ROOSEVELT IN ST. LOUIS TALK

President Roosevelt's Chicago address tonight will be heard over KJH and KFI at 6:30 o'clock.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 14.—(UP)—President Roosevelt reaffirmed "faith and confidence" today in the ability of the people to meet their problems of national and international security by "the peaceful process, of democratic representative government."

At Soldiers' Memorial, a million dollar project which the President dedicated, thousands of citizens were massed and gave Mr. Roosevelt a tumultuous reception.

At the conclusion of his brief address the president motored to the Jefferson memorial. From there he went back to his train to depart for Chicago, where he will speak tonight.

Fitting Structure
The text of his address follows: "You and I join here with the rest of the nation in dedicating this site as a memorial to the valiant dead of the World War. Here will rise a fitting structure—a symbol of devoted patriotism and unselfish service. We in America do not build monuments to war, we do not build monuments to conquest, we build monuments to commemorate the spirit of sacrifice in war—reminders of our desire for peace. The memory of those whom the war called to the beyond urges us to consecrate the best that is in us to the service of country in times of peace."

MANILA, P. I., Oct. 14.—(UP)—More than 100 miners were drowned when floods in the Zambales region swept their homes into the sea near Subic bay, the Herald reported with confirmation today.

Customs officials reported three dead, six missing and four survivors of the motorship Taliba, which sank off Mindoro yesterday in heavy seas.

Loyalists Claim Gains At Toledo

CAPTURE OF SAN MARTIN IS EXPECTED

18,000 Men Locked in Grim Battle Today For Oviedo

MADRID, Oct. 14.—(UP)—Loyalist commanders asserted jubilantly today that the insurgents west of Madrid must abandon all recent gains or face destruction.

In addition, Loyalists took the offensive at Toledo, 40 miles south of Madrid and reports of gains led leaders to believe the insurgent command, contemptuous of the Loyalist militiamen since the fall of Toledo, committed a major blunder by extending their thin lines too far.

Take Offensive
Militiamen backing picked storm guards and National Republican guards took the offensive on a 30 mile front west of the capital. The spearhead of attack, as expected, was San Martin De Valdeleglesias, 37 1/2 miles west of Madrid.

Commanders at the front flashed word to the capital this morning that the fall of San Martin might come at any time. Loyalists were on three sides of the town, east, south and north.

From San Martin the Loyalists intended to turn northward and try to sweep the rebels from El Tiemblo, Cebreros, El Hoyo de Pinares and Navalperal De Pinares, which they took earlier this week, in a double drive from the Avila and Marquenda areas.

The Loyalists believe the rebels' position on the western front is so dangerous they must either order a general retreat or hazard a complete rout.

MINERS CONTINUE TO BLAST WAY INTO CITY
HENDAYE, French-Spanish Frontier, Oct. 14.—(UP)—Eighteen thousand men comprising every one of the conglomerate elements in the Spanish war were locked today in a battle for Oviedo.

Loyalist sources said a Galician rebel column suffered 1000 casualties in a futile attempt to reach Oviedo.

The miners are in the city proper, blasting their way house by house eastward through it, using dynamite bombs whose fuses they ignite with their long black cigars.

Hold Cathedral
The besieged garrison, under Gen. Miguel Aranda, is in position.

TWO GIRLS HURT IN COLLEGE RIOT

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Oct. 14.—(UP)—Officials of exclusive Smith College today investigated a campus political riot in which two girls were injured and pictures of President Roosevelt were torn.

Nearly 400 girls, many from wealthy, socially prominent families, engaged in a free-for-all on the campus last night when rival Republican and Democratic student factions clashed following a street parade.

During the melee, one young woman had a tooth knocked out. Another was kicked in the stomach. College authorities withheld their names.

Witnesses said the riot developed when 150 members of the Smith College Democratic club swung into the parade ahead of the Republican group of 250, which was on its way to a G. O. P. rally.

REGISTRATIONS THROUGHOUT COUNTRY INDICATE BIG VOTE AT ELECTION IN NOVEMBER

RECORD BREAKING registrations forecast today the probability of a new high in votes to be cast in the coming presidential election. Increases ranging from 5 to 20 per cent indicated the 1932 record vote of more than 39,000,000 would be surpassed if voters go to the polls in anything like the manner they flocked to registration booths.

Tremendous gains were recorded along the eastern seaboard, New York leading with a record total of 2,899,123 voters. The figure exceeded the 1932 total by 569,319.

In Boston, more than 350,000 voters have registered, surpassing the previous high in 1934 by 30,000.

Philadelphia, center of a fight for the electoral votes of Pennsylvania, shattered registration history. Republican registration was 519,865, Democratic 403,851. It was a decrease of 33,570 for the Republicans and an increase of 213,611 for the Democrats, compared to 1932 figures.

The Pacific coast revealed a similar interest in politics. In Los Angeles there was a gain of 95,916 voters, the list having increased from 698,010 in 1932 to 793,926 in 1936.

San Francisco's registration was 316,345 compared to the previous high of 312,000 in 1934.

Portland, Ore., set a new high with 182,022 registrations, an increase of approximately 18,000.

Olympia, capital of Washington, reported the state would set a new record. Registrations are expected to exceed 800,000 with Seattle, Tacoma, Spokane and other cities scoring new highs.

Denver's registration was approximately 180,000 with the books not closing until October 31. The previous high was 172,000.

The middle west, battleground of both major parties, kept pace with the rest of the nation in attaining new highs.

In Chicago, 1,807,730 persons registered compared with 1,493,314 in the 1932 general election. For Cook county the total is expected to exceed 2,150,000, a new high.

Germany increased ships from 49 to 53 and tonnage from 113,703 to 125,458.

Volunteer workers in the Community Chest drive were informed at noon today that a total of $30,172 had been subscribed. This is 84 1/2 per cent of the total amount set as a goal for the campaign this year.

While today's meeting was the last official gathering of the entire organization, individual workers and committees, are continuing the campaign and will make their reports directly to headquarters, 114 East Sixth street, according to D. G. Tidball, campaign chairman.

"We know that all reports are not in and that there are many people who have been missed in the general solicitation and we are asking that anyone who has not had an opportunity to subscribe to the charity and welfare fund call the campaign office in order that a volunteer may be sent to take the subscription," Chairman Tidball stated.

The following employee groups solicited by the chairman listed have been added to the "Roll of Honor" for 100 per cent or more of quota raised since last Monday:

NEW DEAL IS ATTACKED BY AUTO MAKER

Declares Kansan Honest in His Opinions and Well Informed

DETROIT, Oct. 14.—(UP)—Henry Ford endorsed the presidential candidacy of Alf M. Landon today.

The automobile manufacturer who, in the early days of the Roosevelt administration, resisted the NRA, said the United States had had enough of the New Deal—"about all the country can stand."

His statement of endorsement came the day after Gov. Landon visited him at his home at Dearborn. The nominee was here on his campaign tour, speaking last night at Navin field.

Pointing out that he met Gov. Landon for the first time yesterday, Ford said:

Three impressions
"I gained three distinct impressions of him: First, he is exceptionally well-informed and has had experience along many lines; second, he is able to speak his mind in the frankest possible way—he is open and honest in his opinions; third, he knows where he stands because he has thought things through.

"Gov. Landon's mind has not been warped. My judgment would be that he would be a hard man to turn from the American way of doing things. The thought with the presidency is that a man may say and intend one thing, but pressure may compel him to do something different — Governor Landon impressed me as a man who would resist pressure.

"Hope He is Elected"
"He knows the difficulty of the job before him, but he believes he can make adjustments that will help everything move along more smoothly. I think he can. After having this long talk with him I admire and believe in him; I hope he is elected."

WARNING GIVEN LONDON LEADS COAST UNIONS IN 27 STATES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(UP)—The maritime commission today telegraphed a blunt warning to Pacific coast maritime unions in an effort to avert a threatened strike tomorrow midnight.

The commission said in a telegram to the secretary of the joint negotiating committee of maritime unions that shipowners had agreed to continue present working agreements while it makes its investigation and warned the unions they should do likewise.

The wire said that the unions' proposal for a 10-day extension was insufficient to permit completion of the commission's investigation.

The telegram said: "The commission cannot accept any limit of time as to the period of its investigation. The owners have agreed to carry on under existing agreements provided assurances are given by unions that there will be no stoppage or work or interference with scheduled operations."

"Without the concurrence of the unions the commission is seriously handicapped in its effort to settle the controversy. It must insist on compliance with its demands for continuance of operation of the present agreement until the investigations are completed and the findings are announced."

JACKSON, Cal., Oct. 14.—(UP)—Gold ore so rich it is assaying as high as $70,000 per ton is being mined 10 miles east of here by a group headed by C. L. Evans, Los Angeles, it was revealed here today.

State Senator A. L. Pierovich described the strike as "unlike anything I've ever seen." He said he saw the first samples brought into Jackson in a shoe box that the small quantity of ore was worth nearly $500. He estimated two tons of the almost pure gold already had been stored in local vaults.

DRIVER HURT AS MISSILE HITS TRUCK

Explosion Breaks Windows of Box Making Factory; Officials Confer

SALINAS, Cal., Oct. 14.—(UP)—A lettuce packing plant, where employees have been on strike since September 4, was bombed today and a short time afterward a homemade gas bomb was hurled into the cab of a lettuce-laden truck.

Lee Smith, driver of the truck, reported to police three men drove alongside his truck in a coupe, hurled the gas bomb into his cab, and fled. The incident occurred on the state highway south of here.

Smith was injured slightly. The first explosion, which occurred shortly after midnight at the General Box plant, blasted a large hole in the ground and damaged an automobile parked nearby.

Barton McMahon, watchman, said the explosive apparently had been encased in a pipe thrown into the plant yard.

Several striking boxmakers were arrested yesterday morning.

The explosion broke several windows of the box-making plant and also smashed a window of the nearby Monterey Ice company plant, where shippers have been loading lettuce with the aid of non-union men for several weeks.

Walter Mathewson, federal conciliator, met with Argyll Campbell, Monterey attorney, who is seeking to revive the Monterey County Labor Relations board, which adjusted a similar 1934 dispute. John Jones, a member of the board, and Sen. E. H. Pickle and William Thiele, legal representative of the Citizens' association, attended the conference.

Mathewson and Campbell conferred with A. S. Doss, secretary of the Fruit and Vegetable Workers union, presumably on some new plan to settle the strike.

Doss said he will summarize the discussions and lay them before his union executive council. He will report back to Mathewson, and if grounds for a peace plan are reached, the proposals will be presented to the Growers-Shippers' association.

session of the cathedral. Machine gunners and sharpshooters are in its tower over the center of the city. Houses have been made into strong local fortresses. The main body of the garrison under Aranda is fortified in the Vega Arms factory.

The setting for a merciless slaughter is complete. General Aranda is the man who commanded the foreign legion segments which in 1934 killed thousands of Asturian miners in the October revolt. They took no prisoners. General Gonzalez Pena commands the miners. He, a politician, led the 1934 revolt. Captured later, he was sentenced to death but reprieved. He has sworn publicly to take no man of the garrison alive.

Moors Arrive

Two thousand Moors, foreign legionnaires and Galician militiamen sent by the insurgent government to relieve the garrison besieged there have arrived outside the city.

They are fighting their way into the town against 15,000 Asturian miners who, in turn, are seeking to blast a path into the last, battered defenses of the besieged garrison, numbering now perhaps 1000 of the 2500 crack fighting men who seized the town for the rebels 89 days ago today.

DELAY ACTION ON NEW SOVIET NOTE

MOSCOW, Oct. 14.—(UP)—Russia, in a note to the non-intervention committee in London, has proposed a virtual naval blockade of Portugal to prevent shipment of war supplies to Spain, it was revealed officially tonight.

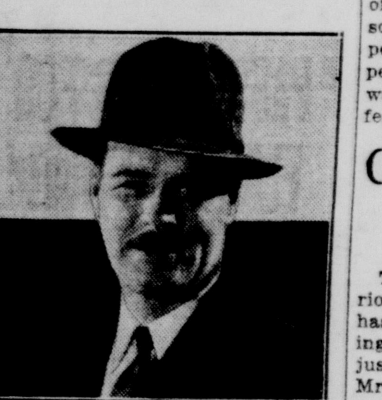

The note, delivered Monday to the Earl of Plymouth, chairman of the committee, proposed that the French or British or their combined fleets should take immediate control of Portuguese harbors.

Replying to the Soviet note Lord Plymouth sought further delay to prevent an immediate crisis arising. He refused to summon the committee immediately on the ground that it still is awaiting Portugal's reply to the recent Soviet accusations of violating the neutrality agreement, and also that the latest Soviet note failed to produce additional evidence.

Why Millions Will Want to SWITCH TO 1937 DODGE

DETROIT—"I was just fortunate enough to get an advance look at the new 1937 Dodge," says Eugene B. Meek. "If everybody 'falls' like I did, millions will want to change to Dodge this year. Dodge certainly gets my vote for giving America such a big, economical car at such a low price."

LOS ANGELES—"Women will fall in love with it on sight," says Mrs. George Barnes Padgett. "And men will be taken with its bigger size and new safety and economy features. I know this new Dodge is going to win thousands who've always owned cars of other makes."

CHICAGO—"I've just had a look at the new 1937 Dodge and I really am excited," says Paul L. Dwyer. "I expected to see improvements but I wasn't prepared for a car so big and handsome as the new Dodge. It isn't difficult to see why thousands will want to change to the new and bigger 1937 Dodge."

KEN Murray SAYS:

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The rattle of sabers in Europe is fast reaching a crescendo with so many major powers trying to secretly aid one side or the other in that Spanish revolution. Guess they're afraid the slogan will be, "As Spain goes, so goes the Continent."

In an effort to stave off the inevitable conflict, poor old John Bull is talking faster than a New Dealer trying to disclaim Red support.

And looking below the surface, you can easily see why so many rulers over there are squirming in their seats. . . . The dictators, who thought they were sitting on top of the world, have suddenly discovered it is really the top of powder keg.

The sad part of it all is that the rare malady called "haemophilia," the scourge of Spain's royal family, has apparently spread to the entire populace.

Nothing seems to stop the flow of blood.

TO GET IMPOUNDED TAXES

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 14.—(UP)—Tobacco and distributors will receive millions of dollars in impounded processing taxes as a result of action taken or announced today by several of the world's largest milling companies.

The announcement of General Mills, Inc., that it would return more than $11,000,000 to customers was followed by similar announcements from the Pillsbury mills and Russell Miller company. Other major milling companies are expected to follow suit.

The taxes, collected under the Agricultural Adjustment act, never were turned into the government because of the supreme court decision which invalidated the act.

GIRL APPEARS AS WITNESS IN JURY TO TRY TRAFFIC CASE BOOKIES BEGUN

Thelma Goss, pretty blonde companion of Edwin Schroeder, of Santa Ana, and Jack Hunt, at the time Schroeder's car became involved in an accident on 101 highway near the county hospital during the early hours of last June 29, underwent a severe grilling on the witness stand today in Superior Judge James L. Allen's court, where she appeared as a witness for the prosecution of Schroeder, on a charge of drunk driving.

Under cross-examination by Attorney Robert Crowley, of the defense, Miss Goss admitted that her friendship with Schroeder and his wife had ended at the time of Schroeder's preliminary hearing, and that now she "doesn't like" them. The attorney did not attempt to probe the cause of the falling out.

She described how Schroeder, Hunt and herself, had left a night club near Anaheim on their way home to Santa Ana, and said that Hunt had cautioned Schroeder against fast driving before the crash occurred. A little more than a mile from the "night spot," she said, she had seen him earlier at a table, with a glass of beer before him, but did not see him drink it, she said. She admitted that she had, after the accident, told his attorney that he wasn't drunk, but said she meant by that he "wasn't dead drunk."

She denied seeing Hunt reach across and seize the wheel from Schroeder just before the accident occurred. Crowley emphasized that claim, as the cause of the accident, in which Hunt was hurt.

J. Eugene Walker, deputy district attorney, conducted the prosecution.

Selection of a jury to hear the case of three Anaheim men, Robert Lusk, William A. Hale and Paul Engel, charged with book-making and violation of the race-track betting law, was in progress today before Superior Judge H. G. Ames as the three men went on trial.

In addition to book-making, the trio is charged with receiving bets outside of a licensed racetrack inclosure, in violation of section 337 of the penal code.

Deputy District Attorney Harold McCabe is prosecuting them, with former District Attorney S. R. Kaufman and Miss Robbie Anderson of Anaheim appearing for the defense.

It is the first of two book-making cases, a group of Balboa defendants being scheduled to go on trial October 27. Kaufman and Anderson also represent them.

Both groups were arrested in round-ups last August 20.

Selection of the jury was proceeding slowly as prosecution and defense probed the possible prejudices and view of talesmen regarding gambling and gambling laws. The defense was supplied with 20 peremptory challenges of jurors, if it chose to use them, indicating that the jury might not be completed before late today.

PASTOR WINS $500 PRIZE WITH ESSAY ON FOR INSINCERITY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—A letter attributing insincerity to President Roosevelt won $500 from the Republican National Committee for Rev. Albert H. Eggleston, Presbyterian pastor of Kansas City, Mo.

Dr. Earl H. De Long of Northwestern University adjudged his entry the best of those submitted in the contest conducted by William Hard for the Republicans on the topic, "Why I Have Changed from Roosevelt to Landon."

The $500 second prize went to Jack Murray of Fort Wayne, Ind. Two Mrs. L. S. Robinson, Turley, Okla., and Mrs. Otto Haack, St. Louis, each will receive that amount.

Mr. Eggleston wrote: "In 1933 I was for Roosevelt because it seemed that at last we were to have effective action toward alleviating the terrible distress caused by the depression. 'I have changed to Landon because I have ceased to believe in the sincerity of Roosevelt and because Roosevelt cannot escape responsibility for the acts of Farley, Hopkins, Tugwell and others. 'Because millions of unemployed have been created by the bungling, wasteful methods of the W.P.A. 'Because of the wreckage of the principal of the civil service and the political exploitation of the hunger of millions of needy people. 'Because of the increasing cost of living, and the increasing burden on all types of business caused by evasive taxation. 'Because I believe that the power and functions of the Supreme Court must be safe-guarded. 'Because I believe that the centralization of power is becoming a real menace to our institutions. 'Because I abominate the persecution of people who are opposed to the New Deal. 'Because I believe Landon to be sincere, courageous, sagacious and fundamentally sound on social, economic and moral issues."

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—(UP)—Mrs. Claus Spreckels, widow of Claus Spreckels, son of John D. Spreckels, pioneer sugar and sugar magnate, and Dr. E. Clarence Moore, widower, and prominent Los Angeles surgeon, will be married within two weeks, it had been announced here today.

Missing Woman Feared Suicide

Reported to have left word she planned to hurl herself into the ocean, Miss Martha De Grasse, 35, of 531 North Batavia, Orange, where she lived with relatives, disappeared from home Monday and has not been seen since. Today she was the object of an intensive search along Orange county's coast line.

Relatives told police Miss De Grasse had been despondent. She is described as being five feet five and one-half inches tall, weighing 105 pounds, having short bobbed hair, and at time of disappearance, wearing yellow dress, grey-green coat and heavy oxfords. Officers said Miss De Grasse has the habit of walking with her head down.

LANDON BACKED BY HENRY FORD

Ford's endorsement coupled an attack on the New Deal social security program and an implied bid for the support of labor for Landon's candidacy. The multi-millionaire pioneer of the automotive industry said that he doubted if "American mechanics are going to regard $15 a month 25 years from now as very much 'social security'."

New Deal wages, he said, were always the lowest possible "because they were set at depression levels, and now 'social security' is defined as the level of about 50 cents a day 20 years from now. Everybody must know that it doesn't mean anything."

Pointing out that next January the Ford company would begin deducting from its employees' pay envelopes for the social security program, Ford said the man who earned the deduction does not own it, cannot handle it, and the majority of the employees "will have to endure that for the next 20 or 25 years—unless the act is thrown out or fails of its own weight."

"Making the social system secure is one thing," he continued. "It is a job for the greatest statesmen the nation can produce—but pretending to create security for a selected class in an insecure system, is a cruel joke—especially when you take their money for it."

KNOX IN APPEAL FOR KENTUCKY VOTES

BOARD KNOX SPECIAL EN ROUTE TO SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 14.—(UP)—Frank Knox, Republican vice-presidential nominee, in an appeal for Kentucky votes today, told a Louisville station audience that on election day "The New Deal will be swept into the Pacific ocean."

He predicted California and Washington would go Republican in November. "A revolution is going on in California," he said.

"Hang on to every bit of liberty you have," he told his cheering audience of several hundred. "We will not obtain any security by turning over our affairs to an autocratic government in Washington."

"Had the Democratic party followed its 1932 platform promises we would be out of the depression," Knox said.

Knox's Louisville speech was the last in his drive to break the solid south. He entered Kentucky after a two day tour of Virginia and North Carolina.

TELLS WHY PARTY LINES ARE BROKEN

BOARD LANDON TRAIN, IN MICHIGAN, Oct. 14.—(UP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon, bearing the warm endorsement of Henry Ford, campaigned into Michigan industrial centers today with a plea for protection of democracy because "We are Americans before we are anything else."

"The union is the tie that binds us," he said.

The Republican nominee, who assailed the New Deal in Detroit last night for taking the "first steps" toward dictatorship, made his first rear platform speech of the day at Flint where Michigan party leaders, including Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, accompanied him.

A large crowd was on the station platform in Flint when the Republican candidate's train arrived. A band, resident in red uniforms, played.

"Michigan audiences have been most courteous in this area where hour initiative and courage have made progress inevitable," Landon said.

"You know that starting next year the new social security legislation will deduct from your payrolls to build up a fund of billions of dollars."

"We are Americans first and always—Americans before we are Republicans or Democrats or anything else. That is why party lines are broken in this campaign. This is why it is not an ordinary campaign. We are concerned about the kind of America we are going to leave our children and we want them to show loyalty and devotion to American principles."

"This is the concern not only to fathers and mothers born in America but to all citizens. The tie that binds us does not depend on our place of birth."

Famous Jockey Held To Answer

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 14.—(UP)—Charles Kurtainger, the jockey who rode Twenty Grand to victory in the Kentucky Derby of 1931, was ordered held to the grand jury today on a charge of homicide in the death of Anna Ray, 49, of Yonkers. She was struck down by an automobile Aug. 4.

R. B. NEWCOM IS ELECTED HEAD OF KIWANIS

R. B. Newcom was elected president of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club at noon today when that organization met in the Green Cat cafe. Members of the organization balloted during the luncheon period and the result was announced at the close of the meeting.

Other officers elected were: Maurice Enderle, vice president; Fred Crowell Jr., treasurer; directors for the three year term, Dave Carmichael, A. C. Hasenjaeger and Claude Knox. M. B. Youel was elected director to fill the unexpired term of P. N. Chapin who resigned recently.

Officers elected today will be installed at a ceremony to be arranged in January.

S. H. Strathman, labor relations counselor of Fullerton and a former member of the Labor Arbitration board, was the speaker today talking on "The Labor Situation in California." He spoke under auspices of the club's Public Affairs committee and was introduced by A. N. Zerman of that committee.

In his talk Strathman pointed out that practically all strikes in California in recent years were agitated and directed by the radical element. Lillian Monroe, who was active in the recent strike of citrus workers in Orange county, has had an active part in the majority of agricultural strikes in the state he said.

He predicted that strike troubles are just beginning on the Pacific coast and that, in the future, there will be more radical agitation and more difficult to combat than in the past.

Strathman said that the labor movement originated from the guild system when there were no strikes. Under that system, he said, the manufacturer also sold his product and there was no reason for strikes. Later, with the inauguration of the modern labor movement strikes were considered as harbingers of better times, indicating that the employer was making more money, would increase wages and create an increased buying power. Strikes today are no longer indicative of social and economic trends but political. In proof of this he said that in the maritime trouble brewing on the Pacific coast the employer group is anxious to settle the trouble before November 3 while the employers do not want it settled prior to the presidential election.

Strathman said that in the present maritime difficulty the workers, for the first time in the history of organized labor, refused offers of arbitration. He said that when the contracts between employer and employee groups were near expiration the employers communicated with labor groups asking conferences over new contracts and, in the event these conferences failed to result in a satisfactory agreement between the two groups to refer the matter to an arbitration board.

Declaring that there had been much criticism of the California Highway Patrol, sheriff's office and police forces of the county for their handling of the recent citrus strike and of the supervisors for the amount of money expended during the strike, Strathman said that had these groups not acted as they did the strike would have resulted in a far more serious situation than faced the county.

LEWIS REFUSES PEACE MEETINGS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—(UP)—John L. Lewis, rebel C.I.O. leader, today refused to consider any peace meetings with the American Federation of Labor until the attitude of the federation on revoking suspension of the 10 committees for industrial reorganization unions is clarified.

Lewis' decision was announced after a conference with C.I.O. aides at which the organization's attitude toward various peace gestures by the federation was threshed out.

It was generally believed Lewis' attitude foredoomed the peace negotiations to failure.

Lewis based his stand on the failure of the A. F. of L. executive council to revoke the suspension order now standing against the C.I.O. unions.

Hitler Called Saint by Speaker

EDINBURGH, Oct. 14.—(UP)—Adolf Hitler of Germany was described as a "saint" last night in an address by Lord William Scott before the 1924 club.

"He does not smoke, nor swear, nor drink and has no vices at all—fact is a very tiresome sort of man," Scott said. "Nevertheless, he has a grip on Germany such as was never possessed by any one, not even Frederick the Great."

Cult Members In Court On Oct. 27

DETROIT, Oct. 14.—(UP)—Five members of the terroristic Black Legion, three of whom have been sentenced to prison for life in the Charles A. Poole murder, will be brought to trial October 27, charged with the "thrill" slaying of Silas Coleman, 42, a Negro.

Cult members accused in the Coleman shooting near Pinckney, Mich., May 25, are Ervin Lee, John Bannerman, and "Colonel" Harvey Davis, convicted last week in the Poole murder, and Roy Lorenson and Charles Rouse.

Keeping His Eye on the Ball

Ex-presidential solemnity was left at home by Herbert Hoover when he attended the world series in New York and here he is shown, keenly interested in the course of a fly ball. Hoover, attending the game with George Getz, former G. O. P. treasurer, was virtually unrecognized in the throng of 50,000.

FIRST PRODUCT OF SALT WORKS ON EXHIBITION

The first product of Orange county's most recent industry is on display at the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce offices the first crystals taken from the salt works, located on the Irvine ranch.

Located on Palisades road, leading to the Newport Harbor district through the Irvine holdings the salt works has been in operation for several months. The first production, several tons of salt crystals, have recently been removed.

Settling beds were installed on the property several months ago and flooded with salt water from the upper reaches of Newport Bay. The water was permitted to stand in the basins until completely evaporated by the sun.

When the water was all evaporated the residue, pure salt, was removed in beautiful crystals, slightly shaded with pink. The product will be sold for use as ice cream salt and in the manufacture of chemicals.

UNCOVERED AT COSTA MESA

A flurry in archeological as well as medical circles here was revealed today by the announcement of the finding of a skeleton of an Indian woman and that of her unborn child in the Costa Mesa district.

SKELETONS OF INDIAN MOTHER AND UNBORN BABE UNCOVERED BY WORKMEN IN COSTA MESA

By MARAH ADAMS

Out of Orange county's distant and colorful past a grim tragedy which left sorrow in an Indian home was revealed today as a group of WPA historical project workers announced uncovering of bones of an Indian woman who was about to become a mother together with the tiny skeleton of an unborn babe which had seven erupted teeth on the lower jaw bone.

The 300-year-old tragedy, discovered by the historical workers in an ancient community Indian burying ground in the Costa Mesa district excited unusual interest in medical circles here today because of the remarkable fact that the unborn baby had seven teeth.

Prominent physicians and obstetricians were asked by John Winterbourne in charge of the project, to examine the skeletons. They stated that while very occasionally a child may be born with two teeth and very, very occasionally a babe may make its entrance into the world possessing as many as five, seven teeth at birth is practically unknown.

They also called attention to the fact that the child's upper jaw bone is missing and if the teeth were cut in the usual fashion a similar number probably would have been found on it. The upper jaw bone was carried away by burrowing rabbits, it is thought.

The size of the child indicates, say the physicians, that it should have been born at least a month before. The head is too large for that of a babe born at the usual time but the rest of its body is correctly proportioned to the size of the skull. Because the baby who lays in the correct position for birth, was not born at the proper time, the mother undoubtedly lost her life, according to the authorities.

The mother must have suffered greatly before her death, the doctors believe and as medical practice among California Indians in those days was confined to sweat baths, incantations and malodorous concoctions, no relief from the abnormal condition could be afforded her. Authorities on Southern California Indians state that had the baby been born in all probability it, and perhaps the mother as well, would have been killed as all children considered abnormal were killed at once.

The skeletons are two of more than 75 taken out of Orange county soil the past year by workers on the project. Several beads made of the teeth of some animal, some limpet hair beads and a bone sewing needle with a large eye which had crumbled into three pieces, were found near the woman and child. (The body was buried in the customary position, with knees bent and drawn up toward the chin and then laid on its side. There is every evidence that the mother and child passed away in a pre-Spanish period.)

The mother's arms are across the child she never saw and whose expected coming quite probably was celebrated with a customary feast and dance, according to old records. The joy of the feast day turned to days of mourning as the child which lay under her heart was not born and the bewildered and tortured mother turned to her gods and the witch doctors for relief.

According to Winterbourne, a skirt of tule or reeds was the mother's only clothing in that far away day and these same reeds were used to build homes, in weaving baskets and making mats. Babies are sometimes found buried in the baskets, he states.

The community burying ground at Costa Mesa is located on a hillside and the soil is of yellow clay. Plans are being made to place the skeletons in a plaster cast before they are moved.

That the child could not have been placed in the grave after the

YOUTH CAUGHT ATTEMPTING TO ENTER STATION

Caught in the act of burglarizing the service station and grocery store of J. B. Kerr, Seventeenth street and Clinton road at 9 o'clock last night, a 16-year-old boy of Manzanita colony, Seventeenth street and Garden Grove road, was jailed by Deputy Sheriff James Workman and John Ryan, after Kerr held the youth at the point of a shotgun until their arrival.

Closing the store door and locking it, Kerr retired to his nearby residence but a few minutes later returned to the store at request of Mrs. Kerr who wanted a cold drink. He found the door ajar and heard a noise inside. Rushing back to the house, Kerr secured his shotgun and caught the youth, still in the store. The youth, to be turned over to juvenile authorities, said he used a pass key to enter the store. "I wanted some chewing gum," he said.

mother's death is evidenced in the absolutely correct position for birth. The crumpling state of the bones which go to dust at the slightest touch makes it certain the child's skeleton could not have been moved into its present position.

GOVERNMENT REGULATION OF WAGES DISCUSSED AT FORUM

It was the old question of how much we should use our heads and how much, our hearts, in relation to labor and wages, which bobbed up again last night at the Forum for Political and Economic Education at the Junior College building as Ernest Wooster, affirmative, and Judge Ben E. Tarver, negative, debated the question, "Resolved, That Governments Should Regulate Wages."

While Wooster, deputy county auditor, argued that the trend of governments throughout the world, including our own, is decidedly and beneficially toward socialization, cooperation, by a gradual evolution, Judge Tarver, local attorney, declared such a trend will eventually lead to cancellation of all our liberties and virtually "a return to slavery."

"Italy, Germany and Russia now regulate wages and France is taking steps to do so," Wooster declared. "Here, we regulate only as to minimum wages—efforts have been made in New York, Washington, Ohio, and Illinois, to bring up the minimum so people won't be ground down to a poverty level but the Supreme Court has reaffirmed its former decision, holding such regulation unconstitutional—and the trend is toward eventual protection for the unprotected."

History Traced
He traced the history of wages from slave labor, through the industrial revolution and the rise of unions. "We got the unions," he continued. "Now, we have generally decided that if we can have government regulation of wages, we no longer will be faced with difficulties brought about by differences between employer and labor unions. The whole trend of our lives today is toward reliance upon government. It naturally follows we are losing the rugged individualism we once prized so highly. Employers may wish to have less troubles which arise from severe competition; again, we may be taking on the humanitarian standpoint to greater extent, not wishing poverty too near anyone."

Evolution of our economic system has taken away the foundation upon which the individualists once stood," he continued, "and when we say government is participating in regulation of our lives, we must remember that every interest, banking, farming,

"How long would a struggling employer, on the edge of bankruptcy, last if the government told him he must increase wages to all his employees? Soon everybody would be on relief. Where could we draw the line on regulation? We would need an army to enforce all such proposed regulations."

"An employer must buy his labor just as his raw materials—at the lowest price possible—or he runs out of business by competition. We cannot regulate wages through governments with 10,000,000 persons out of work and waiting to step into any job vacated at the best wage he can get. Certainly raising wages will not bring prosperity but poverty. We must follow natural laws."

Atty. Horace Head was program chairman last night. Arrangements Committee Chairman W. H. (Ted) Blanding announced next Tuesday's debate subject as "Resolved, That Congress Shall Have the Right to Over-Ride Supreme Court Decisions by a Three-Fourths Majority." On October 27, the subject will be, he said, "Resolved, That Picketing, as Generally Practiced is Detrimental to the General Welfare."

Here Is Another Story of Two Stores . . .

"This branch station would not be taxed at all."

"This branch store would pay $500.00 tax."

All fair-minded Californians would like to know about the unfairness of Proposition #22.

● Here in the State of California, the Western Auto Supply Company operate 115 stores. Under the terms of Proposition #22—106 of these stores are to be taxed $500.00 each per year.

● In this same state, there are thousands of service stations owned by chain Oil Companies. These stations sell auto accessories and are in direct competition with the Western Auto Supply Company stores; yet, under the terms of Proposition #22, these service stations would not be taxed at all.

Where is the equality and fairness of such a measure?

Why should the Western Auto Supply Company—a concern which started in California more than twenty years ago with one small store on a very small capital—a concern which incorporated in California and whose stock is owned almost entirely by about three thousand Californians—a concern which grew to its present size only because it brought to the motorists of California high quality dependable merchandise at lower prices and a helpful service which the motorists were not getting elsewhere—a concern which employs in California a thousand men and women who are happy in their work, who receive higher than average pay, who get annual vacations with full pay, who, during the more prosperous years, received bonuses, and a large number of whom own stock in their company—a concern which has in its 115 California stores 115 managers, all of whom started on an average of more than twelve years ago either as salesmen, warehouse men or service shop men and worked their way up to their present positions—why should such a concern be required to pay for its 115 California stores a tax of more than $50,000.00 while chain gasoline service stations handling many of the same lines of goods pay no tax at all . . . ?

Of course, it isn't fair, and we are confident that Californians will not permit such a measure to pass. But—

This Is Not the Only Reason We Ask You To Vote "NO" on Proposition # 22

This measure is aimed at your own pocketbook. This is not alone our warning, but it is also the warning issued by the United States.

The Federal Trade Commission, in its final report on chain store investigation, came to this conclusion:

● "To tax out of existence the advantages of chain stores over competitors is to tax out of existence the advantages which the consuming public have found in patronizing chain stores, with a consequent addition to the cost of living—"

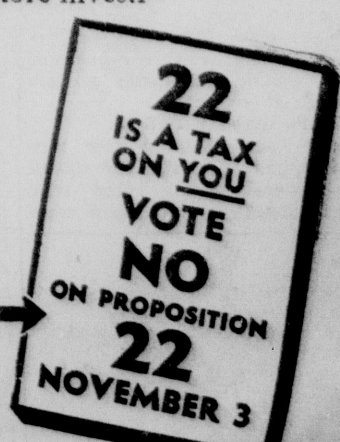

"If ability to undersell, based on greater efficiency—is destroyed by taxation, it is the consuming public which will really pay the tax."

That is why we say → → → →

CONCENTRATION OF POWER IN PRESIDENT ATTACKED BY LONDON IN DETROIT SPEECH

DETROIT, Oct. 13.—The text of Governor Landon's address here tonight follows:

Tonight I am going to discuss the threat of the present administration to our American form of government. I am going to discuss it in terms of the rights and opportunities secured to us as citizens by the Constitution of the United States.

Make no mistake about it: This threat to our form of government is a major issue in this campaign. It is time to bring it out into the open.

We live in a world in which human liberties are falling. In nations after nations ideals of democracy have been swept away.

Courts Unchecked
In every case, the process of destruction follows the same pattern. First, the executive sets himself up as a popular leader, and in the name of national emergency, asks that additional authority be given to him.

Then, the legislature gradually yields more and more power to the executive until the legislature becomes a mere instrument of the executive.

Finally, the courts of law are undermined, and the judiciary ceases to be a protection for the people.

Becomes All Powerful
When this final stage is reached—the independence of the courts is destroyed—the rights and liberties of the people are gone.

The people are then at the mercy of the executive. The executive is all powerful.

We have seen the results of this process abroad. The first steps have already been taken here. Think back over the last three and one-half years, and see what has happened. In the name of emergency, the President asked for and received the right to change the amount of gold in the dollar.

In the name of emergency, the President has accepted authority to issue $3,000,000,000 of greenbacks.

Wages Threatened
In the name of emergency, the President asked for and received the power to set up a so-called stabilization fund of $2,000,000,000.

He can use this fund secretly to buy or sell gold, silver, foreign exchange at any price he sees fit. And he can use it to control the price of United States government bonds.

In short, the President, in the name of emergency, has acquired almost complete control over the money and credit system of the nation. Think what that means.

One man, without notice, can alter the value of the dollar—can threaten the savings and the purchasing power of the wages of every man and woman in this country.

Also in the name of emergency, the president asked for and received authority to determine how much agriculture and industry wages and for how many hours could produce and sell; at what labor could work.

In the name of emergency, the president asked for and received appropriations for money to be spent at his discretion. There are so-called blank checks have totaled $13,500,000,000.

In other words, during a period of less than three and one-half years, one president has been given the power to spend almost without restrictions eight times as much as the discretionary spending power given to 30 presidents over a period of 145 years.

Gave Up Powers
Congress, in effect, gave up its constitutional powers and surrendered its control over the spending policy of the government. Yet one of the most important victories in the history of popular government was that which won for the people's representatives control over the public purse.

Congress should never abdicate the rights won by blood of men determined to be free.

Through this transfer of power over the purse-strings to the executive, he has been able to override the rights of local communities and the states. He has been able to accomplish indirectly what the Constitution forbids him to do directly. It is a shameful thing when our major and the governors of our several states must appear before the chief executive as supplicants, or else lose their share of the federal handout.

President's Boast
The president spoke truly when he boasted before congress in his report on the state of the union last January, "We have built up new instruments of public power."

He spoke truly when he said these instruments could provide "shackles for the liberties of the people....and...enslavement for the public." The people of the United States have never authorized the president to set up powers that supersede their Constitution. They do not want any government to have powers that could be asked to shackle their liberties and enslave them.

If I am elected I shall recommend to congress the repeal of all acts giving autocratic powers to the chief executive.

Permanent Policy
I have listed only a few new powers asked for the president. These powers were granted with the understanding that they were only temporary. But after the powers had been obtained, and after the emergency was clearly over, we were told that another emergency would be created if the power was given up. In other words, the concentration of power in the hands of the president was not a question of temporary emergency. It was a question of permanent national policy. In my opinion, the emergency of 1933 was a mere excuse.

Upon this, it seems to me the evidence is unmistakable. As viewed by this administration, the unfavorable decisions of the supreme court were mere annoying details. They made no visible change in the drive for a stronger central government under a more powerful chief executive.

Change of Policy
If there has been a change of policy—it is time the American people were taken into the confidence of the administration and informed of its plans. Does the administration plan to re-exact the NRA? Does it intend to return to the control of food products by Washington? If it does one it must do the other. If we have an NRA we must have an AAA.

If we have an AAA we must have an NRA. No nation can continue half-regimented and half-free. Which course does this administration propose to follow?

There is only one man who can answer this question, and that man is the candidate for the reelection to the presidency.

Economic Planning
National economic planning—the term used by this administration to describe its policy—violates the basic principle of the American system. It starts on the assumption that the people are not capable of looking after their own affairs. It says that America's greatness was just an accident. This is not true. It is a lie on our people. From the day our nation was founded we have worked and saved and sacrificed for our greatness.

Now this administration would put an end to individual effort. It has concluded that America must have a national economic plan. And without giving the people any choice in the matter, it has attempted to force such a plan upon our nation.

Congress has been told it must pass this law. It has been told it must pass this law. It has not been told it must pass this law. It has been told it must pass this law. It has not been told it must pass this law.

But this was not all. When any man dared criticize this policy of economic planning, the administration brought into use its gigantic propaganda machine to discredit him. Even the Supreme Court did not escape. It made no performing its duty when it declared unconstitutional laws which an untrammeled Congress would not have passed, and a wise executive would not have signed.

But in spite of all these devices, in spite of the sweeping powers which the chief executive has accumulated, these plans have not worked. There is only one test we know in America for judging a plan. It is the test of "Did it work?" Not: "Did it sound well?" "Did it look well on paper?" "Did it work?" By that test, the plans of this administration have failed.

Economic Planning
During the life of the N.R.A. codes which supposedly were designed to put men back to work, 500,000 more people are seeking the figures of the American Federation of Labor, joined the ranks of the unemployed. And the Department of Agriculture, itself, has estimated that the A.A.A., by its cotton program alone, destroyed in 1934 the equivalent of jobs for 1,000,000 men.

This whole economic planning has not led to the promised security. It has disturbed industry, produced unemployment and delayed recovery.

But there is a lot more to it than this. National planning forces the government to reach far beyond the field of business. It cannot allow its plans to be disrupted by unsympathetic citizens or by a critical press. The government must force the non-conformist into line. Therefore, it has to pile regulation upon regulation and order upon order.

Potato Control
The price of economic planning is the loss of economic freedom. And economic freedom and personal liberty go hand in hand.

Remember the threat to our economic freedom in the first two years of this administration. Remember how people followed step until finally it was made a crime, punishable by fine or imprisonment, to grow potatoes, to sell potatoes, even to buy potatoes, unless they came within a quota fixed by Washington. And remember, that threat was killed because the justices of the Supreme Court respected their oath of office.

Now any administration that attempts to run the daily lives of its people, to make their business decisions, to supervise their farms, is working on the theory that it is present administration goes beyond this. It apparently believes that with the concentration of power in Washington came a concentration of intelligence.

But when I look around and see the automobiles on our roads, I sometimes suspect that right here in Detroit there are a few brains tucked away that somehow have escaped the notice of Washington.

Cites Auto Growth
I can remember when there was no automobile industry. I can remember when people first began to talk about that crazy new invention, the horseless buggy. And so far as I know, the horse and buggy came in without benefit of any planners in Washington.

The government at Washington did not build the automobile industry. The government in Washington did not make it possible for 20,000,000 of our citizens to own automobiles. The government in Washington did not give employment to millions in this new industry and the dozens of related industries.

What built the automobile industry that has done so much for this country and its people? The very qualities that its administration holds up to scorn—American initiative, American energy and American frugality. Yet today we are told that initiative must be controlled, that energy and hard work must be reined against society.

The pioneers of Detroit dreamed of producing automobiles at so low a price that they could be owned by the many. They have made their dream come true.

The automobile industry, instead of talking about recovery, has worked for recovery. This industry has taken the way back from depression. And I do not think it is without significance that this industry resisted at every turn the compulsory regulations imposed by the N.R.A. Indeed, one of its most distinguished leaders never signed the code of the Blue Eagle.

Outstanding Example
The automobile industry was the first to start a strike. Instead of using all the intelligence it could command to improve its product, lower its price, and enlarge its market. In this way it has returned thousands to work—real work at real wages.

There could be no better example to show that the need of this country is not for a government that attempts to direct and manage our lives. The need is for a government that will protect our rights and foster American initiative, energy and frugality.

It is the first duty of government to protect us from abuses—from the abuses of concentrated power, whether that power be public or private. The protection against the abuse of private power is a vigilant insistence that free competition be preserved.

The protection against the abuse of public power is vigilant insistence on the rights of our citizens under the Constitution.

Campaign Issue Dodged
If the federal government does not have the authority under the constitution, to prevent the abuse of private power, it should go to the people openly and ask for this authority. The way is clear, the mechanism is defined by the constitution itself. I do not condemn requests for new powers when they seem to be necessary. But I do condemn efforts to obtain powers by devious methods without the people's consent.

If the president thinks agricultural and industrial anarchy prevented only by the enactment of N.R.A. and A.A.A., let him say so. Let him tell us, and tell us before election day, just what amendments to the constitution he has in mind. By his silence on this he is attempting to dodge the fundamental issue of the campaign—the issue of whether he intends to change the form of our government—whether labor, agriculture and business are to be directed and managed by government—directed and managed by politics.

I do not believe that greater and greater concentration of power in the hands of the Federal government, and particularly in the executive, is either necessary or wise. I believe that we should continue to use our 45 sovereign states to try out new ideas in the field of government. However, if I am elected, and that new powers are needed by the Federal government, I shall favor Congress going to the people openly and ask for such powers through a constitutional amendment. The people must be given full opportunity to debate the issues involved before they can take the momentous step of changing the charter of their freedom.

This charter—our Constitution—has served us well. It served our fathers well.

Conditions Abroad
We have only to look abroad to see that in many countries the character of freedom is no more. Let us not forget this. In many countries of this world today the people no longer have the freedom to sing in open worship of the faith of their fathers. They gather in hidden places, and while they sing, the soldiery of despotism is pounding at their doors and carrying away their pastors and their priests.

From the colleges and schools of those countries great teachers have fled and those who remain speak not by their own belief and conscience, but by the dictates of the state. Generations are growing up in those countries who have never known the free search for truth.

Question of Freedom
In those countries freedom of thought is gone. Freedom of speech is gone. Freedom of the press is gone. Freedom of worship is gone.

We in America cannot ignore these warnings. We must not, out of regard for any man or men, blind ourselves to the forces that are loose in the world. It is not a question of any man or men. It is a question of human freedom.

ADMINISTRATION'S STEPS TO AID YOUTH OF NATION DISCUSSED BY PRESIDENT

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 14.—The text of President Roosevelt's address delivered at the auditorium here yesterday follows:

It is good to see once again smiling faces and to hear happy cheers from young America.

I have just come through eastern Colorado and western Kansas—parts of our national dust bowl—where deep holes in the ground and swirling clouds of dust show the erosion which years of man's neglect has wrought in the soil.

And in your own state you have all seen other examples of waste in the physical resources of our country—water, trees, birds and other wild life.

Human Erosion
But through the years of this depression we have had destruction even more tragic than that—waste in men and women, in human skill, character and life. Of all the appalling waste of the days of false prosperity and recent disaster, human erosion has been the most ominous.

There was unfortunately, for a long time, in the high places of government in Washington a school of thought that human waste was the concern only of private charity and local communities. We have learned a lot since those days.

We no longer believe that human beings hit by flood, drought, unemployment or any other national disaster should be left to themselves with the sole hope of such charity as may be locally available to them. It may not be enough to go around.

Human Assets
Government since 1933 has begun to take stock of the human assets of the young men and women of America—the raw material out of which the United States must shape its future.

Nature's deepest instinct is the concern in every parent's heart for the welfare of the children. It is a law of nature which equals even the instinct for the preservation of life. Indeed it is part of that law, for without the preservation of youth, the race itself would perish. And so, the highest duty of any government is to order public affairs so that opportunities for youth shall be made ever broader and firmer.

We Americans have never lost our sense of this obligation. To assist the young in any other way than to give them the opportunity to give their rising generation a little better chance in life than the one that preceded it.

The little red schoolhouse for the education of the young, and the church for the training of the spiritual qualities, have always been the first structures to rise in every new settlement, as our ancestors pushed new frontiers through the wilderness. The school is the last expenditure upon which a government should be willing to economize.

Those of us who helped build up the fantastic jazz era of the nineteen twenties, which crashed down over our heads, must feel a peculiarly deep sense of responsibility to our boys and girls who were sunk with us in the ruins.

Era of Wanderers
I need not remind the young people of this country of the black future which lay ahead of them in those days. That was the era of the wanderers—boys and girls who had grown tired of living on the vanishing savings of their parents, and who had set out on the highways in all directions to look for work which they could not find.

Those in school and those out of school could not look forward to a place in the community. The door of opportunity had been slammed in their faces.

Hanging around on street corners, roaming about the country in bands vainly looking for work—there was the real danger which America faced.

When the history of the dark days out of which we are now coming is written, it will be said that the great marvel of this period was that those young people have come through with a full faith in democracy and with a high resolve to preserve it at all costs.

Cities couldn't help, counties couldn't help, states couldn't help. Even big business couldn't help. The youth of America had apparently come to the end of the road.

Government Acts
That was the condition that confronted your Federal government on March 4, 1933. Your Federal government acted.

Before it laid its hands to any other problem—and there were many of them—it set up the C.C.C. camp to put an immediate end to that hopeless condition. It cost money to do that, just as it cost our pioneer fathers and mothers money to build the schools in which we have all been trained.

We have done much in the way of a beginning to improve the things in America which have made for waste in human beings. On the farms and in the cities—throughout the nation—we are starting to remove those glaring inequalities, those deep-rooted maladjustments which did so much to bring about disaster.

Must Finish Job
The American people joined with us in 1933 to start this job. A vast majority of the American people in 1936 are with us to see it through. We have made the start in these days, confident that you—the youth of the country—will carry on to finish the job.

That is why we have a national youth program. That is why through our C.C.C. camps and the

Ed F. Elstrom was granted permit to construct a $12,000 eight-room residence with garage at 1912 Heliotrope drive, the structure to be frame and stucco, 54x42 feet in dimensions. Man-Sized Struggle

We have saved above all our faith in the future. We have saved which America has only begun to march.

In that march America will have to be led by the youth of today. It has been our job to clear the ground of what in too many places was a social and economic wilderness. That pioneering has only begun. It will be for you to continue it.

You will discover that in pushing forward this great program of social betterment and social security you will be met by the same opposition, the same relentless resistance which faced the frontiersmen of the early west. You will find that your fight against selfishness and injustice, against oppression, and above all, against war, will take you into a man-sized struggle.

I am telling you this not to discourage you but to stimulate you. Our fight—yours and mine—is to keep our democracy safe by keeping it moving forward. In such a fight it is an unhappy place to be on the sidelines. To the young people of America I say: Join with us, ours is the real struggle to continue and preserve democracy in America.

GARLAND HEADS GROUP TO PASS NEW OIL BILL

William May Garland, international Olympic Games official, now enroute to California from Germany, will serve as Southern California chairman of the state-wide committee in behalf of Proposition 4 on the November ballot. It was announced today.

Other civic leaders who will head the state-wide group include William E. Colby, chairman of the California State Park commission, who will serve as chairman of the central valley area, who was named chairman for the San Joaquin Valley.

Proposition 4 point out that in addition to its provisions for prohibiting tide-land forever and offering protection to beaches from pollution and interference with bathing, fishing and boating, the measure would raise a substantial revenue to the state without cost to the taxpayers. This would be accomplished through royalties to the state for slant-drilling into state-owned oil pools from uplands back of the beaches. Half of the revenue would go into the general fund for tax reduction and the other half for buying and maintaining publicly owned parks and beaches.

Members of the state-wide committee for Proposition 4 in Orange county include the following: Leslie F. Kimmel, Laguna Beach; L. F. Mallow, mayor of Laguna Beach, and George R. Raymer of Santa Ana.

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT FACE PIMPLES

These disgusting little spots often result from a slight, temporary disturbance, or merely from incorrect cleansing, or sometimes they are more persistent due to deeper internal causes.

While properly treating the underlying cause, you can relieve the itchy, burning soreness and help your skin by using an ointment that will keep the medication in contact with the pimply spots. Apply it every night and leave it on all night. It does a world of good.

For more than 40 years people have used Resinol Ointment to fill this need. It soothes the irritation and aids healing. It also treats the oil pores where many surface pimples start. Washing first with Resinol Soap quickens the pleasing results.

Buy a jar of Resinol Ointment and cake of Resinol Soap from any druggist. For free sample write Resinol, Dept. 10, Baltimore, Md.

WPA PAYROLLS TO BE CHECKED IN SAN DIEGO

Changes in the method of payroll accounting for WPA projects here were announced today by Dan Mulherron, county WPA director. The change will become effective tomorrow.

According to Mulherron work of preparing payrolls has been duplicated here and in the district office at San Diego. In the future all project payrolls will be prepared in the San Diego office. The change will affect three women and three men in the local offices. These employees, however, have been assigned to other departments where additional help was needed.

Mulherron said that, in the past, time sheets have been prepared in the field from the time books of foremen. Later they were turned in to the offices here where they were checked and typed and forwarded to the district office in San Diego. In the San Diego office the work of checking and typing has been repeated.

According to Mulherron instructions received yesterday provided for the payrolls being checked in the Santa Ana offices for accuracy and from there they will be forwarded to San Diego where the payroll will be prepared.

Mulherron said that the change is in line with the administration efforts to eliminate all duplication of work in the handling of WPA projects and office detail.

COUNTY ELEVEN HIT HARD BY INJURIES THIS YEAR

In a bodily-contact game as enthusiastic as football, injuries are more or less expected. Usually they are of a minor nature, especially after mid-season. By then most players are physically fit, handle themselves better.

Most of the serious football injuries occur early in the campaign.

It was in an early season conflict a year ago that Johnny Ochoa, Anaheim high school quarterback, suffered fatal injuries.

This was the most tragic football accident in the history of the game in this section. Yet most of Orange county's sprawling school system has been hit hard this year, too.

Ray Parker, Valencia captain, is out for the season with a broken leg.

Clydene Johnson, Fullerton Jaycee halfback, is through for the year with a broken foot.

Harold (Bud) Nelson, Brea-Olinia quarterback, has checked in his suit because of a broken ankle.

"Chuck" Robinson of the same school has a painful side injury.

Frank Kruse, Fullerton high school, out for season with broken collar bone.

Byram Bates, star Class B halfback at Santa Ana high school, tore a cartilage in his knee and has quit football.

Angie Oliveras, Anaheim quarterback, is in a hospital with side injuries.

Whether this unusual number of injuries is due to mere chance, the severity of early season schedules or lack of proper conditioning is not for me to decide. But there must be a reason.

"Davie Davis," says Coach Howard Jones to Los Angeles news-hawks, "is the best all-purpose quarterback it has been my privilege to coach at Southern California."

O.K., Howard, you take Davis; but I'll take Drury.

Famed Elizabeth (Bunny) Ryan, ablest women's doubles player the world has yet produced, is coming to Santa Ana every Saturday to give lessons.

She has organized a class that will gather each week at the private court at the A. J. Cruickshank residence, where Miss Josephine acquired much of her ability.

Miss Ryan and Miss Cruickshank are old friends. They returned together from Europe the year the Santa Ana was a member of the U. S. Wightman Cup team.

Members of Miss Ryan's class include Zena Leck, Alverda West, Katherine Mather, Marjorie Mize, Patricia Emison, Patsy Miller, Bob Mize, Howard Rapp, Bob Marshall, Billy Hill.

Miss Ryan holds more championships than any woman, even La Moody and Jacobs. She holds 19 in a dozen different countries.

COUGARS, 35 STRONG OFF FOR S. C. GAME

PULLMAN, Wash., Oct. 14.—Washington State's Cougar football team holds high hopes of overcoming the powerful Southern California Trojans when they clash Saturday in the Los Angeles Coliseum in a game that has a decided bearing on the Pacific Coast championship. Undeclared in their first starts, the stalwart grid warriors from Pullman present their strongest team in years.

Coach "Babe" Hollingbery with his 35-man squad left Pullman last night, works out in San Francisco Thursday and will arrive in Glendale Friday morning. Headquarters will be at the Huntington hotel.

With Ed Goddard, All-American quarterback candidate, heading the classy group of backfield axes, Hollingbery has a potent scoring team. The real strength of the Cougars, however, is found in the line where a sturdy crew of seasoned veterans pave the way. Particularly in the tackle sector does Washington State ooze power. Six huskies, four of them lettermen and two sophomores, are the basis for the Cougar challenge to the Trojans.

With Goddard in the backfield is Roger Dougherty, veteran fullback who is playing his third year as a regular. Bob Fletcher, 190-pound halfback, is regarded as the best piece of sophomore material Hollingbery has had in many a moon. Hal Jones, a senior letterman, has been doing first team duty at a halfback post. Carl Littlefield, junior college transfer from Sacramento, has zoomed into the line-light recently and is proving a capable alternate for Dougherty at fullback.

SAGEHENS PLAN AIR RAIDS AT CAL. TECH

CLAREMONT, Oct. 14.—Tried and not found wanting against the tough San Diego Marines, Pomona college's dazzling forward and lateral passing attack will be augmented this week in preparation for Cal-Tech at the Pasadena Rose Bowl Friday evening. Coach Earl (Fuzz) Merritt today mapped additions and embellishments to the Sagehen aerial onslaught which last week sunk the Marines, 13 to 6.

CALIFORNIA WORKS AGAINST BRUIN PLAY

BERKELEY, Oct. 14.—(UP)—Coach "Stub" Allison today planned to drill his University of California team against U. C. L. A. plays in preparation for the Bear-Bruin clash here Saturday. Yesterday, the varsity eleven sparked by Floyd Blower, George Cornell, Eddie Vallejo and Vic Bottari ran up 12 touchdowns in a scrimmage with the second team.

BRUINS GO TO AIR AGAINST CALIFORNIA

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 14.—(UP)—The air was to be filled with flying footballs again today at the U. C. L. A. practice field as the Bruins go through another drill on aerial offense. Two former Bruin grid stars, "Chuck" Chesbrough and Mike Frankovich, yesterday impersonated California players during scrimmage.

Kudo Agrees to Wrestle O'Shocker Here

Kimano Kudo, Japanese jiu-jitsu champion who has repeatedly gone out of his weight division to take on the giants of the mat, today agreed to wrestle Pat O'Shocker, the red-head terror, in next Monday night's three-fall main event at the Orange County Athletic club.

Kudo almost took a hand in Monday night's clash when O'Shocker took on "Baron" Ginsberg, bearded former nobleman, and Billy (The Kid) Hanson in a substitute match when an auto accident caused Howard Cantonwine to call off his bout with O'Shocker at the eleventh hour.

O'Shocker was in a white rage after the match, claiming he not only had to wrestle Ginsberg, Hanson and Referee Dick Rutherford but almost had to take on Kudo, who jumped into the ring to separate a wild mix up.

The O'Shocker-Kudo bout will be two out of three falls, catch-as-catch-can and jiu-jitsu. The stipulation gives the man able to score the fastest fall a right to call the turn in the third fall, if it is necessary.

COMMISSION WILL PROBE BOXING RIOT

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 14.—(UP)—A state athletic commission investigation was anticipated today as result of the riot at Olympic auditorium last night after Glen Lee, 149½, Lincoln, Neb. welterweight, technically knocked out Able Miller, 149, of Los Angeles in the tenth round of their bout.

The riot apparently started when Miller's brothers, Benny and Hymie, both former boxers, jumped into the ring and began exchanging words and blows with Lee's handlers.

Within a few seconds the ring was filled with supporters of both sides who joined the fighting. Police finally escorted the participants from the ring.

During the fighting, Miller lay unconscious where he had fallen after being knocked down the fourth time. He was revived and taken to his dressing room.

Referee George Blake, noted ring arbitrator, stopped the bout a few minutes before the end of the last round.

REPORT GIANTS AFTER VAUGHAN TO PLAY THIRD

BY LESLIE AVERY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Sparks from the hot stove league: The St. Louis Cardinals out-traded the Chicago Cubs when they got Lon Warneke for "Rip" Collins and Leroy Parmelee in the opinion of the baseball scribes.

They point out that Owner Phil Wrigley paid about $35,000 to get Curt Davis to bolster the Cub hurling staff last summer and then swapped away the backbone of his corps . . . but count upon baseball for inconsistency and Card Vice President Branch Rickey to get the best of any deal.

National League Prexy Ford Frick was pleased with the trade . . . he believes between seasons swapping keeps baseball interest alive through the winter.

Grimes to Pilot Dodger? Successor to "Casey" Stengel as manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers is the most debated question with ex-spitballer Burleigh Grimes the favorite . . . Grimes managed the Louisville Colonels in the American association.

Giant Manager Bill Terry wants a first baseman, third baseman, second string catcher and another outfielder before his champions embark for spring training . . . Sam Leslie, who was supposed to take Terry's place at the initial sack this year but suffered an injury preventing anything but occasional appearances, is to undergo an abdominal operation at St. Louis.

Terry is not sure about Johnny McCarthy who came to the Giants from Newark at the end of the year and would like to have gotten Collins from St. Louis but the Cubs dealt first and talked afterwards . . . Joe Stripp of the Dodgers and "Arky" Vaughan of the Pirates are being talked up for "Stony" Jackson's third place job.

The New York Yankees apparently are well set for the 1937 campaign but Manager Joe McCarthy would listen if some club would offer a good infielder and a twilight pitcher . . . Second baseman Tony Lazzeri, who was dubbed "the end of the season" at the beginning of last season, may not stand the keystone pace another year.

Plenty of Backstops? The Cardinals are teaparty with catchers with "Spud" Davis, Bruce Odrovinski, Bill Delaney and Arnold Owens and should be able to make some good deals with the Detroit Tigers, Chicago White Sox or Washington Senators . . . The Cards are reported to have already turned down $100,000 for the 20-year-old Owens, sensation of the American association with Columbus last year.

Other rumors going the rounds have the Tigers seeking a hitting outfielder to replace "Goose" Goslin who can't go on forever . . . Wes Ferrell and Billy Werber going to the Washington Senators in exchange for "Buck" Newsom and cash . . . Johnny Whitehead being disposed of by the White Sox . . . The Yankees grabbing Bob Feller . . . "Gabby" Hartnett going to the Dodgers as catcher-manager and the Cubs getting Van Mungo to fill Warneke's shoes . . . The Giants are looking for a Cub infielder Stan Hack . . . Rogers Hornsby has placed Catcher Rolfe Hemsley on the swap-ping block . . . Pittsburgh wants Pitcher Ed Brandt from the Dodgers . . .

VARGAS AND WILKES TO BOX SEMI-FINAL

Signing seven preliminary matches to the Lupe LeMon-Odell Police heavyweight rematch, Promoter Bob Singleton today completed his entire boxing card for the Orange County Athletic club tomorrow night.

Ray Vargas, young Atwood Mexican middleweight, his confidence somewhat restored after last week's boxing lesson from Jim Johnson, goes back into the semi-win-dup against Johnny Wilkes, Los Angeles Negro 155-pounder.

Promoter Singleton is giving the special event assignment to Tustin's new heavyweight aspirant, Ernie Shine, 185-pound protégé of Bob Martin. Shine's opponent will be Jimmie Dime, Los Angeles.

Placencia's Jimmy Merced takes a step up the ladder this week, instead of opening the show as he has many times, the two-fisted featherweight is slated for the sixth spot against Kid Caldwell.

Raoul Solis of Delhi draws a tough customer in Dave ("Frenchy") Chaconne, one of the ablest lightweights in Southern California's amateur army. This one would be a fast-moving struggle. Singleton is toying with the idea of showing it higher on the card, perhaps into the special slot.

Maxie Moore, usually good for a roughhouse, is listed against Ray Gerry, Los Angeles 135-pounder. The Orange football player is about due for a better place on the program.

The first two bouts pair Gerald (Clown) Berry vs. Lerop Laws, and Joe Hawkins vs. Art Lind.

KIPKE DENIES DISSENTION AT MICHIGAN; WOLVES HOWL

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 14.—Given time and excuse enough, the wolves howl for a football coach's head. Oftentimes they do not need much excuse.

No coach is immune when the going remains rough for any length of time. Coaches either win with some degree of success or get out.

Dr. John Wilce and Sam Williams heard the wolf pack at Ohio State. Hunk Anderson listened to the growls at Notre Dame, Gil-mour Dobie at Cornell, Pop Warner at Stanford, and Eddie Casey at Harvard. In face of a remarkable record there and elsewhere, Howard Jones was severely criticized at the first sign of a Southern California slump.

Now Harry Kipke of Michigan is a target.

The beating at the hands of Michigan State for the third consecutive year set the pack off in full cry.

It is claimed that Kipke has a defeatist complex.

It is said that authority is divided between Kipke and Fielding H. Yost, and that dissension and jealousy have undermined the coaching staff and ripped the team apart. Coaches are accused of failure in teaching the right kind of football.

Players of last year's squad are charged with not doing their best because many of them have been supplanted by sophomores.

KIPKE IN COMMAND

Campus gossip has been so bitter that Kipke sees fit to deny the reports.

"I am responsible, personally, for the performance of the team," says the All-American halfback and kicker of 1922. "I am head coach and all that implies. During the time of my employment here Mr. Yost has never acted in any capacity but athletic director. Assistants on the football staff are hired by the athletic board of control, as I am. I assign the duties to the assistants.

"We are all working together. There are rumors and reports to the contrary, of course, but that is natural, under the circumstances. But on the field were just concerned with getting out the best football team possible with the material available. There is no dissension among either the coaches or players."

Kipke became head coach of Michigan in 1929, and carried out the Wolverines' "punt, pass, and pray" system with great success until 1934. His clubs lost only one game in four years, and were unbeaten in 1930, 1932, and 1933. He was one of the most highly regarded coaches in the business at the conclusion of the campaign of 1935, when he was sought by Yale.

SPAUDLING SYSTEM SOUND

Dissenters forget the brilliant successes of the Wolverines and of the once famous Michigan system. Kipke has for the past three seasons attributed a shortage of Grade A material to a general tightening up on scholastic requirements. He has lacked the clever ball handlers of Ohio State and Minnesota.

Perhaps by this time, Kipke agrees with Bill Spaulding, the old Minnesota coach who has spent a number of years at the University of California at Los Angeles, and others.

Members of this large group frankly assert that their systems consist of getting 11 young men who are better than the 11 young men on the other team, and then sitting back and waiting for them to win the ball game.

When it is suggested that there is no deception to such a system, Spaulding insists that those who believe this are wrong.

"The system is deceptive," explains the U.C.L.A. coach. "It has fooled me several times when I believed that my 11 young men were better than the 11 young men on the other side. When such a thing happens and we get knocked off, I go back to my first system, which I have nicknamed the single setback."

BALSAMO 6-5 FAVORITE

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—(UP)—Harry Balsamo, New York middleweight, defeated a slight favorite to defeat Eric Seelig of Germany in tonight's 10-round fight at the Hippodrome.

Balsamo, whose potent punching power made a big hit in the smaller fight clubs during the summer, was quoted at 6 to 5, but it was reported there was plenty of backing for the tough German.

SAINT-INDIAN STRUGGLE DUE THANKSGIVING?

If the junior colleges of Santa Ana and Fullerton go through with their contemplated scheme to abandon their annual Thanksgiving Day date in favor of a contest the previous night (rather than conflict with U. S. C. and U. C. L. A.) the high schools of the same cities are prepared to do some maneuvering of their own.

The Register learned today that the annual Saint-Indian "Big Game," usually deciding the unofficial Orange county prep championship, probably will be played here Thanksgiving Day if the Dons and Yellowjackets play at night.

Coach Bill Foote admitted he had discussed the idea with Coach Don Cruickshank of Fullerton, and Cruickshank agreed that it "would be a smart thing to do."

Conceding that the S. C.-U. C. L. A. contest is a "natural" that will draw a capacity crowd to the Coliseum, Foote and Cruickshank contend there are hundreds of Orange county football followers who either can't afford Coliseum tickets or (2) will be unable to secure them. The coaches believe a day game here would attract fans from all over Orange county.

The Saint-Indian engagement is now tentatively set for Nov. 25, a Wednesday afternoon.

"If we play Thanksgiving Day we're a cinch to draw better than on a Wednesday," said Coach Foote.

COOK THREATENS TO BENCH REGULARS

Still dissatisfied with the attitude of some of his leading players, "who think they can loaf in practice and play on Friday nights," Coach Bill Cook ordered another scrimmage session for Santa Ana's Dons today.

Yesterday's workout was the same story as the day before with the scrubs and second string running at will through the so-called first string.

"Unless some of the first bunch show me more in workouts than they have this week they are in for a surprise Friday night, because even if I have to weaken the team to do it I am going to start those fellows who show the stuff in workouts," Cook told The Register.

"Unless some of the first bunch one of the heaviest squads into Santa Ana Friday night that has ever faced a Don football team. The Panther line will average better than 190 pounds, a bulge of at least ten pounds a man over Santa Ana."

Officials anticipate one of the largest early season crowds in years. The game is a "natural," with the coaches being former roommates at the University of Southern California. Cook says he would like nothing better than to get back at Heiser for the rude manner which Chaffey treated the Dons at Ontario last year when his squad beat a championship-bound team, 10 to 6, under a blazing sun.

AZTECS SEEK THIRD WIN IN CONFERENCE

Invading Redlands next Saturday afternoon came the San Diego State college Aztecs, seeking their third consecutive conference victory. Once again the contest will demonstrate deception and tricky passes against line power. Which-ever way the game turns it will be a classic with the winner very much in the running for the conference title.

Friday evening La Verne's Leopards invade Santa Barbara. La Verne will be seeking an opportunity to break into the win column while the Gauchos in earnest quest of a championship will be endeavoring to keep their slate clean.

Whittier's Poets open their conference season on the turf of Patterson field at Occidental Saturday. Whittier, twice champions and defending titleholders for last season, are definitely aspiring for another title while Occidental is determined to win their first conference victory.

Jimmy Austin To Address City Leaguers

Jimmy Austin, for more than 25 years a player and coach with major league ball clubs, will be the speaker at tonight's Santa Ana City league banquet at the Green Cat cafe, at 6:30.

Austin severed his connection with baseball last spring on account of his wife's illness. He was with the Chicago White Sox at the time.

Guests of honor will be the first and second half champions—Joe's Grocery and the Commercial National bank. Managers of other clubs and members of the commission also have been invited.

APPROVE NEW RACING PLANT AT INGLEWOOD

INGLEWOOD, Oct. 14.—(UP)—Inglewood's city council, by unanimous vote, last night approved the application of the Hollywood Turf club for permission to erect a race track with pari-mutuel betting here.

The approval was given after city officials held a postal card plebiscite of voters to determine what their views were on establishment of horse racing in the city. The vote was 7845 yes; 2150 no.

Proponents of the second track declared opposition to the Hollywood Turf club was inspired by interests backing the Santa Anita track at Arcadia.

Alfred E. Green, movie director and president of the new turf club, said his organization would establish "the finest track in America" here in return for the vote of confidence given by Inglewood residents.

WILLARD GRIDDERS THUMP TUSTIN, 12-7

By JOE MIXER

Frances Willard Junior high school's football team came through with a 12-7 victory over Tustin yesterday, scoring twice after Tustin had made a touchdown and added the extra point in the first quarter.

Bill Hull made Willard's first points through center and Ralph Barnes manufactured the winning touchdown in the third period. Willard was threatening to score throughout the last half.

Although the Willard "B" ranks are very small this fall, Coach Arnold Lund has several seasoned players on the squad. Outstanding players are Hull, Barnes, William Waddell, Don Lieberman, Bob Wooster, Raymond Dallas, Joe Reynolds, Robert Padilla, Ralph Ballard, Pete Ojeda, Allen Hadell, Robert Shoemaker, Robert Cazares and Bois Edwards.

STUDEBAKER TO GIVE FIVE NEW CARS AS PRIZES

One of the most unusual prize contests of the year was announced here today by Paul G. Hoffman, president of the Studebaker corporation.

The contest, which has received the approval of the United States postal authorities, is called "The Presidential Sweepstakes" and participants will attempt to predict the outcome of the November presidential election.

Mr. Hoffman has posted five prizes: five 1937 Studebaker President cruising sedans—for the five persons who most closely predict the result of the voting in November. In case of ties duplicate prizes will be awarded.

The rules of the contest are simple. Persons desiring to enter are asked to go to their nearest Studebaker distributor or dealer showroom. There they will be given a "ballot" or entry postal card. They will also be given a pamphlet which carries the results of previous presidential elections and which will prove helpful in their prognostications. There will be no charge for these accessories to the contest.

All contestants must be adults, no minors being eligible. After the contestants have done their "doping" of the result of the President Roosevelt-Governor Landon battle, they will record their prediction on the voting card and mail it to Mr. Hoffman at South Bend.

The contest will close on October 30. There is to be one and only one judge, Mr. Hoffman, who will make his decision and award the prizes as soon after the November voting as possible.

NEW GOODYEAR GAME POPULAR

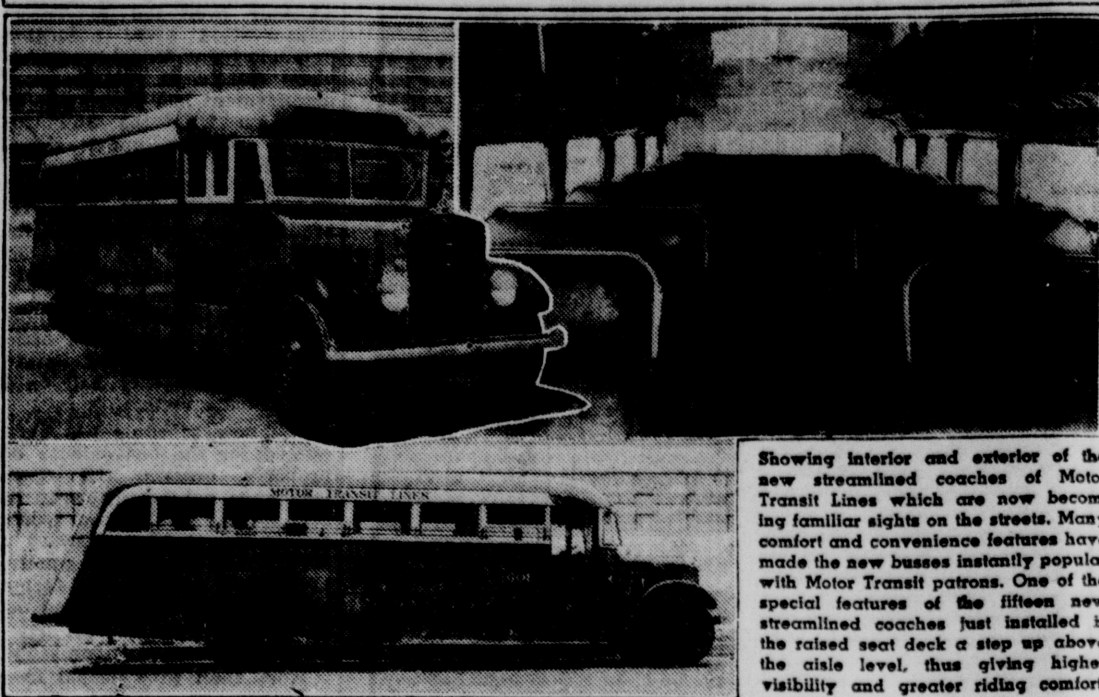

"Knock-knocks," bridge, monopoly and similar indoor sports have a new and rapidly growing competitor.

The new parlor game according to Estee Brown, local Goodyear dealer might be called "Picking the President." It consists of following evening by evening the trend of political opinion as evidenced by the three weekly Goodyear broadcasts of the Literary Digest poll returns, tabulating the score up to date, and then indulging in plain and fancy jumping at conclusions.

A handy aid to the playing of the game is a "poll-o-meter," a convenient poll score chart distributed free of charge by Goodyear dealers throughout the country, on which the running score of the week by week tabulations can be kept and the trend one way or the other in the voting carefully recorded and noted.

"Several million of these 'poll-o-meters' are being distributed by Goodyear, and the rapidly with which the public is asking for them is a clear indication of the

NEW MOTOR TRANSIT COACHES NOW IN SERVICE

HAIR ACCURACY IN FORD PARTS

No less than 1951 gauging or measuring operations on Ford V-8 parts are under three thousandths of an inch, the breadth of the average hair. These are not laboratory measurements, but in daily production work. Such accuracy was not practical until Ford put in air-conditioned inspection rooms where the temperature and humidity are held constant. Also in making one car there are 5853 gauging applications, 33,450,000 per day when running at 6000 car capacity. No other car is made to any closer limits than the Ford V-8 and few have either the equipment or facilities to even approximate this accuracy. Being the manufacturer of Johnson master gauges in this country and using no less than 160 sets for inspection purposes in the Rouge plant is the foundation stone upon which this unparalleled accuracy of manufacture is founded.

There are 3030 measurements under five one-thousandths of an inch. That's the kind of manufacturing accuracy you get when you buy a Ford V-8. That's why Ford V-8 is the outstanding performing car on the road, can be driven 60 miles per hour from the beginning, and it not only economical on gasoline and oil but, what is more important, one of the lowest in cost of maintenance.

"The nation's intense interest in the coming election," Brown said today.

John B. Kennedy, commentator on the Goodyear broadcasts over a coast-to-coast NBC network, plans his scripts with special attention to the thousands of listeners who are keeping score on the poll-o-meter charts, it was pointed out. Figures are repeated in order that they may be correctly entered on the chart, and every Wednesday returns for the entire nation bring the charts up to date in advance of the appearance of these totals elsewhere.

Tiny Speedboats 'Toe the Mark'

Speedboat racing annually makes its "splash" in New York City's Central Park, but no one gets wet, even if one of the craft turns over. The boats, both steam and gas engine, are small but powerful miniatures of larger models. Here, some of the speedsters are being lined up by their owners for the start of a heat. Some entries were clocked at a speed of 30 miles an hour.

DODGE FACTORY COMPLETE CITY

One of the most intriguing manifestations of American industrial genius is the far-flung array of buildings and yards crisscrossed by railroad tracks, crowned by towering stacks, known as the main plant of the Dodge division of Chrysler corporation.

In size and extent like a city in its own right, the Dodge plant is located near the western boundaries of the city of Hamtramck. And Hamtramck itself, in case you do not already know it, is situated within and entirely surrounded by the city of Detroit—all of it making Dodge a city—you might say—within two cities!

As the visitor wanders through the spacious offices, over acres of floors sprouting desks and drafting boards, he notices nearly everywhere framed legends headed by one word: Dependability. Out in the shops with its myriads of whirling machines, among thumping presses and screaming gear cutters, wherever you turn blazes the word: Dependability!

"Yes," nods the guide, "if our city within two cities were to be given a distinctive name of its own, it might smack less of geography and more of practical idealism—because there could be no more characteristic name than Dependability City."

Ever since Dodge began operations, 22 years ago, the guide continues, "the single word, Dependability, has been back of the ambition to make Dependability the watch-word for every activity in the plant."

410 BUICKS ON WAY TO COAST DISTRIBUTORS

Four hundred and ten cars in a simultaneous trans-continental demonstration. That is the record-breaking spectacle streaking across the country as Pacific Coast dealers, salesmen and saleswomen return from the big factory convention in Flint, Mich. behind the wheels of new 1937 models.

These cars, taken direct from the factory assembly line and serviced and then brought through with consistently high mileage each day, will be found in regular demonstration service when the new Buick for 1937 is formally presented to the public Saturday, Oct. 24. Thus interested motorists may drive and inspect demonstrators that already have been across the country under severe driving conditions.

This was the plan followed in the introduction of the new 1936 Buick. Every demonstrator that was in service at the beginning of the season had been driven from the factory. The 200 California cars ended with a combined travel average of 51.2 miles per hour for the trip from Flint. Many of these cars continued through the entire season in demonstration service.

Of the 410 new Buick demonstrators being driven to the Coast, 115 are coming to Southern California. The vanguard already here found nothing more than a good washing and a change of oil necessary to fit them for service. Critical inspection did not even reveal a body squeak according to W. R. Gordon of the Buick dealership here.

"Instead of putting our demonstrators through the usual limited 'breaking in' process," explained Gordon, "We give them such road tests that the motorists may see just how they meet severe day-after-day driving across the country. These cars are taken from the factory without selection and given the same servicing that is required for all customer cars."

FATHER OF S. A. BUSINESS MAN PASSES IN L. A.

T. C. Rapp, 75-year-old father of Howard Rapp, manager of the Tower Manufacturing company, 111 North Main, and silent partner with his son, in the local enterprise, passed away at his home in Los Angeles, Monday, October 5, it was revealed here today.

Originator of a group of department stores throughout Indiana and Ohio, and for many years, president and principal stockholder of the store organization, known as The Rapp company, the elder Mr. Rapp retired and came to Los Angeles to make his home 15 years ago. He had been a silent partner in the local concern since 1923.

Born in Claremont county, Ohio, and wedded there 46 years ago, Mr. Rapp is survived by the widow, Mrs. Sally Rapp, Los Angeles; two sons, Howard Rapp, Santa Ana, and H. He was laid to rest at Hollywood Memorial cemetery, Hollywood.

SANTIAGO PARKWAY TOP SOIL WILL BE REMOVED TO PARK

Removal of 1000 cubic yards of topsoil from the Santiago Parkway channel, between Orange and Santa Ana, to Irvine park, where it will be scattered as required in connection with a park extension and planting program, was authorized late yesterday by the county supervisors, at the recommendation of County Highway Superintendent Nat Neff.

Neff explained that the top soil must be excavated at the parkway and is needed at Irvine park. The cost of hauling would be 43 cents per cubic yard, he estimated, or a total of $430.

A strip of dirt roadway along the Southern Pacific tracks, bisecting Hansen road and Artesia boulevard, at Buena Park, may be abandoned if the board grants a petition filed by 10 property owners of that area yesterday through Supervisor Leroy Lyon. Hearing of the petition was set for November 10, and the county planning commission was notified.

Transfer Funds

At Supervisor Lyon's motion, the board appropriated $286.24 from the gas tax fund to the city of La Habra, for street improvement purposes.

Jimmy Fidler in HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 13.—Time sound would reach the microphones and add authenticity. Not until a second preview of the completed picture did a sharp-eared telegraph operator decipher the telegraph code, which signaled: "If it's a Warner Brothers picture, it's the worst show in town." A disgruntled ex-employee of that studio had bribed the operator to send the message. The entire sequence was refilmed at considerable cost, else Warners might have sued for (and won) a few million dollars.

Actresses who come to work mornings wearing last night's gaudiness, usually discolored.

Today (years late) I learned of an amusing incident which has been successfully hidden until now. Universal studio once filmed a Lew Ayers picture in which several veteran reporters appeared in a newspaper sequence. Among them was a telegraph editor who was ordered to sit at his instrument and send messages so the Still other items enter the indictment, but these are enough to illustrate the grounds of desertion by these sections of the "liberal" press.

These are honest doubts. They are not the struggle of vested interests to protect their swag. There are Americans who think these desertions are short-sighted and un-sound. There are other Americans who think these doubts are not signs of a desertion of liberalism, but realistic criticisms of an attempt to administer liberalism.

Again the voting masses must decide.

New Homes Built At Westminster

WESTMINSTER, Oct. 14.—The third lot to be sold to prospective residents on Monroe street, New Westminster, has been purchased by C. Joslyn, this on the southwest corner of Monroe and Eighteenth street.

The other two lots are located at the southwest and the northwest corners of Monroe and nineteenth streets and belong to J. H. McGuire and Asa Snow, who will build homes. Mr. McGuire has already started the erection of a large double garage which will be the temporary residence.

The frame residence on the Fred Day 10 acre dairy ranch on the Vogt estate, where all dairy equipment has been completed, is now well under way and the plastering started the last of the week. This is a large three bed-room house.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Schmidt who purchased from Day the west 10 acres of his 20 acre purchase, recently, have completed all buildings on their place and moved in their dairy from the former C. B. McCall ranch on Ocean avenue, the past week and are living in apartments connected with a garage building.

CROP CHECK TO GET UNDER WAY

Beginning this week, the Orange County Agricultural Conservation association will have men in the field, according to W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor, checking on this year's crops and practices to determine the number of acres of soil depleting crops and soil conserving crops on the land of those growers who have filed applications for a grant based on this year's crops and practices under the Agricultural Conservation Act.

It is imperative that growers file a record of this year's crops and practices at the association office, 302 Courthouse Annex, Santa Ana, at once if they are to expect an early completion of their record. The field inspection and measurement of land on which grants are made is a necessary part of the procedure. If the record on which the 1936 crops and acreages is not returned, obviously the expense of making a field inspection will not be incurred. This would be manifestly unfair to the others who have filed their records, as the expense of inspection is subtracted from the total amount of grants made in the county, it was pointed out by J. H. Burnett, secretary of the association.

Therefore, all growers who have filed work sheets showing the 1935 crops and acreages and are expecting to be eligible for a grant in 1936, based on (1) diversion of acreage from soil depleting to soil conserving crops, or (2) employing such soil building practices as growing cover crops, erosion control or weed control, should notify the soil conservation office immediately to see that their records are clear.

She is one of the few women who have worn the jewels, which are in this country for display.

SELECT FRIDAY FOR SOIL TOUR

Every Friday at 1:30 p.m. has been set for a personally conducted tour over the El Toro Soil Conservation area, according to announcement today by Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg. This arrangement has been made in co-operation with the Soil Conservation Service under the local direction of Charles Wilson. Any person or group interested in seeing the erosion methods established by the Government service on the 25,000 acre demonstration area east of Santa Ana may call at the Santa Ana office and secure an engineer guide any Friday. The Santa Ana office of the Soil Conservation Service is located in the City hall on Main and Third streets.

The new schedule has been arranged for the convenience of the property owners and operators who have not been able to attend the special field tours conducted during the past year. Every property owner in Orange county, especially those having farms on sloping or rolling ground should avail themselves of this new service, says Farm Advisor Wahlberg. More than fifty people from all parts of the county participated in the erosion tour of last Friday. R. D. Perry and Clarence Tedford, Conservation engineers, directed the day's program and tour through the demonstration area. The group was shown detailed construction of soil conservation facilities such as check dams, lined ditches, terracing, contour farming, tree and cover crop planting.

Actual field work has been started in the Lemon Heights district, and will be expanded in time to the El Modena foothill and Orange Park Acre areas.

The soil conservation program in Orange county, carried on through cooperative agreements between the Government and the property owners, is giving employment to more than 200 men.

Seal Beach Police Cut Automobile Accident Toll

NEW ALL TIME LOW REPORTED FOR SEPTEMBER

Serious automobile accidents in the vicinity of Seal Beach are dropping to an all-time low according to Chief of Police Lee Howard, who today filed a report with the California Highway Patrol showing not one ambulance call here during the month of September, nor in October to date.

Ambulance calls in the city for the first 10 months of the year total 5, as compared to 19 in 1935, and 33 in 1934. The majority of these calls came from accidents on the Coast Highway, major traffic artery running along the north of the residential and business district Chief Howard pointed out.

Unable to account for the decrease in accidents by one reason alone Chief Howard divides credit between the campaign of California Highway Patrol in Orange county to keep drunk drivers off the road by keeping close check on night clubs and cafes, the addition of a fourth traffic lane to Coast Highway, and the educational drives for safer driving now being carried in major newspapers of the state.

The average of drunk drivers per month has dropped to two, from four or five of a year ago, according to Chief Howard, following a policy of checking establishments that serve liquor, and keeping those under the influence out of cars.

BLAME RADICAL AGITATION IN CITRUS PICKERS' STRIKE

(Editor's note: Following is the sixth of a series of articles prepared by the Orange County Protective association. These articles deal with the labor situation in Orange county.)

We now come to the situation of the 1936 citrus pickers' strike. Without fear of contradiction we express our belief that this strike contained more diverse elements of radical agitation and more complications than has ever been known in an agricultural strike any place or any time.

Lillian Monroe previously mentioned and we now find her activities with other Communists appeared in Los Angeles the first of the year and established a downtown headquarters for a new labor organization known as the Federation of Agricultural Workers' Union of America. Lillian Monroe had left her former Communist position in the Communist Third International and we now find her a convert to the new Socialist-Trotskyite coalition. The Trotskyites being the Fourth Internationalists, all three groups obtaining their basic beliefs from one source, the Communist Manifesto of Karl Marx.

The Socialist group had openly and publicly accused the Communist group of falling in their strike program in California agriculture and claimed to have succeeded to that leadership, particularly in view of the fact that the old Communist leaders in agriculture were imprisoned as a result of the Sacramento criminal syndicalism trial.

First Field Strike

The first act of Miss Monroe was the participation in a field workers' strike in the Chula Vista district. She then returned to Los Angeles and incorporated into her Federation all the radical unions she could gather, irrespective of the technical nature of their beliefs. These unions were radical unions of Americans, Japanese, Filipinos, and all the Mexican Unions of Voladores Confederation or C. U. C. O. M.

On March 18, 1936, they made impossible demands upon the Southern California Farm Federation which of course were refused, followed the two months strikes in the field areas of Los Angeles county.

On March 19, 1936, a list of 16 demands with several sub-sections were made upon several growers' associations in Orange county with the intent of serving notice on all associations and shippers. These demands were signed by Lillian Monroe, William Velarde, and Estaban Muniz. Publicity by the growers telling who were caused the Mexican Union representative to publicly state they had severed all connections with her and her Federation.

Connection Not Broken

This was not actually done as Monroe and Velarde continued to work together and months later we find Lillian Monroe still active in the strike. This first set of demands preceded by two months the regular harvesting of the Valencia crop as the first regular prorate for shipments was received for May 18.

A second set of demands somewhat modified was made upon the associations on April 24, and on June 5, a communication from Mexican Consul Hill notified the growers that they had until 2 o'clock on June 10 to answer their demands.

Early in March representatives from the various growers associations and shippers had met to discuss picking conditions with relations to wages for the coming season. A final decision was made to raise the pay from 5 cents per box and one-half cent per box bonus to 5 1/2 cents per box plus a one-half cent bonus. This rate to apply to normal picking. In those areas where picking was poorer as a result of excessive wind damage a basic hourly wage plus a per box rate was established to assure the workers of equal earnings. Furthermore it was decided that for any groves offering poor picking as well as those groves in which selective picking later in the season would reduce earnings, rates were to be adjusted to assure an average of at least 30 cents per hour.

Delay Requested

Previous to the calling of the strike a delegation from the pickers' union called upon a representative of the associations inquiring as to the disposition of the demands. They were told that each association was an individual employer having different picking conditions and problems and that each association wished to deal with its own employees and would be glad to do so at any time.

SARDINE BOATS TOPIC AT MEET OF COAST BODY

Proposals to renew its campaign for curbing purse seiners, and floating reduction plants inside the three-mile limit will be discussed next Tuesday at the meeting of the Orange County Coast association in Laguna Beach.

Announcement of the meeting was made today by Leslie Kimmell, president of the coast group, who said that a representative of the Fish and Game Development association will be the speaker.

The association has been active in conducting a campaign against these floating reduction plants and purse seiners for several years.

According to Howard I. Wood, secretary of the Santa Ana chamber of commerce, the association has communicated with him requesting the local group's cooperation. The request will be taken up at the next meeting of the chamber directors.

In planning a new drive in the state legislature to curb what is said to be a serious menace to game fishing along the Pacific Coast, members of the Fish and Game Development association have pointed out that in 1932-33 only two of these floating reduction plants were operating along the coast. When the first attempt to regulate them failed, the number of these plants increased. The proposal was again defeated in 1935. Today, according to Wood, there are 10 plants operating off the coast and, through destruction of sardines have materially reduced game fish along the coast.

'MARY OF SCOTLAND' OPENS AT WALKER'S

Lavish pageantry is an added feature of the historic drama of the colorful career of Mary Stuart, "Mary of Scotland," which opens a two-day engagement at Walker's new theater, Third and Bush streets, tonight. Katherine Hepburn and Frederic March, two of the screen's foremost actors, are starred in this fine production, which has won wide acclaim wherever it has been seen.

The second picture is another big hit, "Meet Nero Wolfe," starring Edward Arnold as the popular fiction detective who solves strange crimes without leaving his home. The supporting cast includes Lionel Stander, Victor Jory and Joan Perry.

"Headliners," presenting vaudeville stars, is the short subject.

CORMORANTS AS MOTHERS

SEWARD, Alaska (UP)—After successfully employing cormorants as incubators for chicks, H. A. Anderson, naturalist and seed grower, is experimenting with cormorant-hatched goose eggs.

Time, they were furthermore told of the new wage scale and were asked to at least wait until the regular picking started and determine fairly what their actual earnings would be and then if they found them inadequate make their requests.

This proposition was not acceptable to them. Wages or conditions of employment were after all merely secondary. They did not wish to deal directly with their employers, it was the union, Union recognition and union bargaining that was really the point of contention with them.

Growers Refuse

The growers answered the notification of Consul Hill refusing to deal with union leaders, not in any way connected with the industry and headed by a resident of Los Angeles county. They asked the consul to do what he could to avert a strike.

In accordance with the deadline set in Hill's statement the strike was called the night of the 10th. You have no doubt heard, as we have, too much about the strike itself and we will omit any details of the strike. We will only give some interesting information as to its background.

MEXICAN POLICE TO BE HONORED AT DINNER HERE

Returning the visit of Chief of Police Floyd Howard, who was in Mexico City this year, seven members of the Mexican Highway Patrol will be in Santa Ana Thursday and Saturday.

On Thursday the patrolmen, all of whom are trick motorcycle riders, will be the guests of honor at a banquet to be given at noon in the Green Cat cafe by the Mexican businessmen of Orange county. Included in the luncheon party will be Chief or Police Howard, Sheriff Logan Jackson and Mayor Fred Rowland.

During the dinner period entertainment will be furnished by Beatrice Castro, singer and dancer and the Trio Mexico.

Saturday night, at 8 o'clock, the Mexican riders assisted by the Victor McLaglen troop of motorcycle riders, will give an exhibition of stunt riding in the Municipal Bowl. This exhibition will include a wall crash and other stunts that have given the Mexican Highway Patrolmen international recognition as dare-devils and skilled riders.

The trip to Santa Ana and Los Angeles is a good-will tour made by details of the department bearing messages of the Mexican government to officials of the various American cities visited on the tour. Inclusion of Santa Ana in the tour this year is due to the visit paid the Mexican police, several months ago by Chief of Police Howard.

TRIPLE THREAT

That shy look of Noel Coward's as he arrives at New York for the production of his latest dramatic effort, "Tonight at 8:30," probably is due to the shock Americans will get when they find it will require three evenings attendance at the theater to see it all.

No more beanies for junior college freshmen! The annual Kangaroo court was held yesterday morning in the Willard auditorium to mete out punishment to freshmen who had not worn their beanies, tollored on the sophomore benches, rooted for the wrong team at football games, and various other offenses.

SALUTE TO Love

BEGIN HERE TODAY

KATE and CAROLINE MEED live on a run-down place known as the old granddaddy, MORGAN MEED, and two old servants, ALTHY and ECKE. Kate is engaged to MORGAN PRENTISS, but is neglected by him for EVE EWELEW, home from college.

Kate and Caroline start to Louisville with Zeke to deliver some baked hams to a club. Their sedan is struck by a car driven by a stranger, who pays $500 damage and consents to take the two girls and the hams to the city. Having tasted one of the hams, he asks to buy the formula for curing and cooking. Kate takes $500 for it, and the man pays it when she informs him that she has seen him steal the license plates from their car.

The girls buy Kate a new evening dress and bank the $500. Returning home, they learn that the mortgage has been foreclosed on the Meed farm and that they must move to a dilapidated tenement house.

In Lexington JEFF HOWARD, a wealthy and bitter young millionaire, tells his lawyer that he wishes to take over the Meed farm.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER VII

KATE said that night, "You say the law allows us to stay on here a while. But if we've got to go, let's go quickly! Prolonging the agony only makes it worse." Caroline agreed, though shrinking as if someone had struck her. "Yes, I think the sooner we move the better, Granddad. It would break our hearts to stay on here—the way things are."

The Major consented. The next day was Sunday. They passed this normally, pretending that nothing had happened, but on Monday morning they rushed into packing with a sort of feverish haste, confronting the first move of their lives as if it were no more than housecleaning.

The fact that the five most important suites of furniture were to be left behind was almost as much a shock to the girls as the loss of the house and farm.

Morgan Prentiss, coming out to Meed Meadows that night, found Kate stunned and remote. He said to her, "You don't have to tell me about it, honey. I've known it for four or five days. And I've known for a year or two that it was on the way. Anybody could see the old gentleman was riding for a fall."

"Everybody but Caroline and I," Kate replied. "He's been actually crafty about hiding his worries from us. Let's get away from these packing boxes. Let's go outside."

MORGAN was willing enough. They left the littered hall and went out into the yard, walking slowly and close together across the damp grass. A smell of honeysuckle and June roses hung in the air. When they reached the pasture fence Kate's horse came up to her, putting his whinnying nose against her shoulder, as gentle as a moth in spite of his size.

She said, "There, Brown Boy!"

and gave him the petting he begged for. Then she slapped him on the flank and drove him away.

"I wonder how he'll like his new quarters," she said ruefully to Morgan. "The barn at the tenant house is pretty awful."

"Forget it tonight, Kate," Morgan said sharply. He drew her to him and kissed her. When she tried to speak he kissed her again, and presently her heart was pounding dizzily, responding as always to his love making.

They went back to the house and sat on the porch steps. Kate's head rested against her knees and she could stroke his hair.

SHE said to him, out of her thoughts, "That girl from St. Paul. Eve's visitor. Did you like her a lot?"

Morgan answered, "She's good-looking and quick on the uptake. But it won't break my heart when she leaves."

Somewhat Kate knew he was speaking the truth. The girl hadn't reached him. She moved and sat beside him on the step and kissed him tenderly. He responded in his own ardent way. He treated her always as if she were something infinitely desirable and yet infinitely precious. He was very articulate. He could tell her that he loved her in a dozen different and charming ways. He could and he did. There was the flair of the finished southern gallant in that he said to her. With his tender, extravagant words he put her on a pedestal and made her a little proud of herself. It was his way.

And yet, when he had left, Kate had been hungry, cheated feeling.

As she stood on the porch and watched the lights of his roadster brighten the highway and disappear, she felt this lack with a sudden piercing clearness. She thought, in dismay, "He didn't say a thing about what's to become of it. He didn't mention our moving!" . . . She felt like the woman in the fable who had gone to the wise philosopher to ask him the meaning of life, and the wise philosopher had replied, "It's a beautiful day, my good woman. A very beautiful day." . . . Well, maybe Morgan had his own sliver of wisdom in his treatment of her tonight. Maybe he had purposely refrained from talking of the things that were grieving her. Kate chose to believe this, for she was in love.

By the end of the week the packing was accomplished. Monday had decided to move on Monday. The house was almost dismantled.

It was while Kate was emptying a wardrobe in one of the bedrooms that Althy came panting up the stairs to find her. "Miss Kate," she demanded belligerently, "do de dishes go wiff de house?"

"Certainly not," Kate answered,

Entertaining Program Launches Players' Fall Season

Had Community Players' association members any doubts as to the entertainment value of "Hay Fever" with which their current season will open Friday and Saturday nights in the Ebelle Auditorium, those doubts vanished last night when members of the cast presented one short scene from the Noel Coward comedy drama, as a feature of the first general meeting of the year.

Homeless, since the famous old Mabury street "Barn" is no longer available, the Players met last night in the peacock room of Ebelle clubhouse. Enthusiasm that ran through the group like a current of electricity, seems to promise that all things are possible to the Players, even their long-cherished dream of a little theater of their own, according to the president, Harry L. Hanson. Pointing out that such terms as "Barn" and "Barn program" were now misnomers, Mr. Hanson expressed the hope that a permanent meeting place might be secured before the November general meeting.

He was introduced by Mrs. John Swarthout, program chairman for the year, and included with his brief talk, two announcements. One was that Mrs. Robert Hanson would take responsibility for the annual Southern California tournament of One Act Plays with which the season closes. The other, equally important, was that Miss Marian Bruner would be chairman for the association's annual Original One-Act Playwriting contest, manuscripts for which may be submitted at any time.

Mrs. Swarthout asked for volunteer assistance on planning programs and refreshments for succeeding association meetings. Harold Fish called attention to the season tickets now on sale for the major plays, and Frank Lansdown read a communication from Harold East, regarding the school bond election of October 22.

Almost the entire cast of "Hay Fever" took part in the short scene from the play, Mona Summers Smith, Mary Swarthout, Agnes Brady, Florence Valle, John M. Swarthout, Leslie Steffenson, Lawrence Newland and Harold Fish. It left the audience breathless with laughter and doubly anticipating the play itself.

Mrs. Smith, representing not only the association, but also Santa Ana Public Library, gave a fine review of Robert Swarthout's anti-war play and Pulitzer prize winner, "This Delight" with special emphasis upon the roles enacted on the New York stage by Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne.

The customary coffee hour had been planned by Mrs. Burr Shafer (Gladys Simpson Shafer), Players' director, who had assistance from Mrs. Swarthout and Mrs. Emmett Elliott in serving coffee and cup cakes while members renewed friendly association after a summer recess.

Lad's Playmates Share Birthday Party

Roger Anderson's eleventh birthday anniversary Monday occasioned the first birthday party he has ever had to have, a gay affair at which Mrs. V. J. Anderson entertained a group of her son's young friends in the family home, 980 South Main street.

Various card games, marbles and playing the tail on the donkey formed the afternoon's merriment, and to Billy Pappas, scoring in the last named contest, was awarded a prize.

Don Anderson, elder son of the home, assisted in serving angel food and sunshine cakes and pumpkin-centered ice cream when the lads were gathered around the refreshment table. This was arranged beneath a chandelier from which was suspended a dancing skeleton figure and orange and black garlands to match those festooned over the table with its central cluster of marigolds and its flickering candles including the tiny ones on the birthday cake. Black magic stood guard over the nut cups and Halloween crackers were pulled apart to reveal bright orange cap favors.

Roger's opening of his birthday packages was the finale of the happy afternoon, as he sat in the center of his ring of friends and passed each gift to be duly admired.

Sharing the festivities with him and his mother and his brother Don were Barton Wells, Jim Murphy, Harold Gruner, William Henry, Bobby Wilson, Robert Harding, Robert Miller, Hugh Mix, Gerald Pryor, Harry Henderson, Billy Pappas, Walter Paris, Santa Ana; Jack Macy, Compton; Mrs. J. J. Hutchins, Orange; Mrs. John Macy, Mrs. George Larsen, Compton, and Mrs. Harry Simmons of this city.

December 18 Chosen As Date For Portlock-Hurd Rites

Joining the ranks of winter brides-elect, Miss Elisabeth Hurd announced her engagement and approaching December marriage to James E. Portlock of Long Beach at a prettily-appointed tea recently in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Hurd, 1226 French street.

The romantic news was revealed by means of tea napkins whose corners were inscribed in gold with the names of the engaged couple, together with December 18, 1936 as the date chosen for the wedding. Yellow and white pompon dahlias and bouquet candles formed the effective centerpiece at the tea table. Pouring tea during the afternoon were Mrs. Ernest Hill of Banning and Mrs. Roy Hershey of San Diego for the first interval; Miss Thelma Thomas and Mrs. Orville Hurd of Santa Ana; Mrs. Furr Underwood and Mrs. Clyde Arnold of this city.

Mrs. Hurd, in rust crepe, and Miss Hurd in black crepe, both with corsage clusters of Talisman roses, received the guests.

A pleasant feature of the afternoon came when Miss Hurd displayed the many lovely articles in her cedar chest.

The bride-elect, a graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles, is a teacher with the adult education department of Santa Ana city schools. She had her earlier schooling in this city, graduating from Polytechnic high school and then studying at junior college, where she was prominent in the Y.W.C.A. V.A.A. and Las Meninas service club.

Mr. Portlock, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Portlock of Pueblo, Colo., is employed with Graham Brothers, Inc. He had his schooling in Long Beach.

Boat Trip to Begin Sunday For Local Travelers

Shipping difficulties having been ironed out, the S. S. President Taft will pull out of Los Angeles harbor on schedule Sunday, October 18 with Southland travelers including Mrs. C. W. Hyde Jr., 201 West Twentieth street, and Mrs. Robert Jeffrey of Irvine.

Mrs. Hyde and Mrs. Jeffrey had expected to leave here tonight by train to board the boat in San Francisco tomorrow. However, latest developments indicate that the President Taft will sail on schedule from the Southern harbor, and the many Santa Anans who had planned to bid them bon voyage will have opportunity to do so.

Anticipating an extensive trip which will take them to the east coast and many other points of interest before their return home at Thanksgiving time, Mrs. Hyde and Mrs. Jeffrey will enjoy a 14-day voyage. They will stop at Balboa and at Havana, continuing to New York City where they will spend five days.

While on the east coast, Mrs. Jeffrey will take delivery of a new car in which she and Mrs. Hyde will make a leisurely trip homeward. They are anticipating a stay at the Willard hotel in Washington, D. C., where they will be entertained by various friends and acquaintances. St. Louis, Mo., and other cities will be visited en route to Mrs. Hyde's former home community, Parsons, Kans., where the two travelers expect to spend a pleasant time.

In Dallas, Tex., they will visit the centennial, then continue to El Paso, and on to Carlsbad Caverns. They plan to return to Santa Ana, November 22.

During her absence, Mrs. Hyde (Julia Ann Hyde) will leave the guidance of the Commercial National bank Travel bureau in the hands of Mr. Hyde, who will be assisted by Miss Loretta Spangler.

College Patrons Give "Get Acquainted" Tea Party

Santa Ana Junior College patrons' association held a tea yesterday afternoon in the women's lounge on the campus for the purpose of acquainting new college parents with the differences between the high school P.T.A. and the Patrons' association of the college.

Mrs. Neal Beisel, president of the association, gave a short talk on the aims and features of the organization, and made particular mention of the forum lectures which carry out the theme "For the Adult Understanding; For the Child—Security For All—Peace," that was chosen by the California Congress of P.T.A.

Miss Myrtle Martin, head of the college music department, presented a program composed of solos by Miss Marjane Belcher and Harold Pottoff, accompanied by the Misses Eleanor Buckles and Genevieve Bustis.

Mrs. Byron Walbridge, secretary, poured tea from a lovely silver tea service belonging to Mrs. Mary B. Robertson. She was assisted by the Mesdames Neal Beisel, Mary B. Robertson, Walter Fine and Walter Dunlap, all members of the executive board. The women's lounge with its Monterey furniture and hangings was brightened by pompon dahlias in fall colors.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrison

Just 50 years ago today, on October 14, 1886, in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Miss Adeline Jeffries, daughter of a prominent pioneer family, exchanged wedding vows with a young insurance agent, Ernest L. Morrison. Today on their golden wedding day, Mr. and Mrs. Morrison recall with pleasure, the interest taken by hosts of friends in the observance given the anniversary yesterday in their home, 116 South Birch street.

Reception Guests Honor Golden Wedding Couple

Wearing a handsome gown of duobonnet lace with crushed velvet flower in the same rich shade, the pearls "borrowed" according to bridal tradition, from Mrs. W. W. Anderson, and carrying a point lace handkerchief and of course the Talisman roses sent by her "bridegroom," Mrs. Ernest L. Morrison was a stately and charming Golden Wedding bride yesterday afternoon when she and Mr. Morrison renewed the vows they took just 50 years ago today. The occasion was an anniversary reception at which they were hosts in their home, 116 South Birch street.

Since there is no formal anniversary service in the church ritual, it was the pleasure of the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of First Presbyterian church in which Mr. and Mrs. Morrison are active members, to write the very beautiful and solemn service which he repeated.

Beautiful Service

It was a very affecting ceremony including the descent of Mr. and Mrs. Morrison from the upper floor of the home, to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played on the cello by Edward Burns. Other music included the solo by Marie Stanton Eversy (Mrs. Jefferson Eversy) who sang "I Love You Truly" and several cello numbers by Mr. Burns including Mendelssohn's Wedding March and "End of a Perfect Day."

An ideal wedding setting was given by the handsome flowers which were gifts from dozens of interested friends, and which were placed in every possible part of the home. Great golden dahlias and chrysanthemums, vivid marigolds, cosmos, roses of every description, and garden blossoms mingled with sprays of autumn leaves were seen in abundance.

In the dining room where refreshments were served, candles in crystal candlesticks flickered on the table with its handsome silver tea and coffee services, its central cluster of roses and orange blossoms, and its two big wedding cakes. Ices centered with golden wedding bells, petit fours iced in the same design, salted nuts and a variety of tiny cakes formed the inviting menu. The handsome dinner cloth of Irish linen had a wide border of drawwork, fashioned by Mrs. Morrison more than 35 years ago.

At Tea Table

Presiding at the table at various intervals during the afternoon, assisting in receiving guests, and acting as hostesses throughout the home were past presidents of the First Presbyterian Aid society of which Mrs. Morrison had been president for five years. Heading this group of assistant hostesses was Mrs. R. J. Bie, whose presidency was in the days of the old church building, before Aid and Missionary societies were divided. Others were Mesdames J. R. Medlock, M. F. Heathman, W. W. Anderson, C. S. Kendall, J. R. Goodwin, C. H. Baird, G. B. Darnell, Clyde Bach, Cynthia Davis, J. R. Moore and S. A. Jones. Only two were absent because of illness, Mrs. H. J. Forgy and Mrs. Victor Montgomery. All wore their hostesses' gift of flower corsages, fashioned by Mrs. J. C. Winans and Miss Leslie Smith from blossoms provided by Mrs. Pollins.

Mrs. Anderson had charge of the guest book, which was the gift of the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. McFarland, and with its signatures of all present.

Club of Long Standing Is Entertained by Mrs. Cain

Happy associations which were formed more than 30 years ago and which have been maintained at meetings throughout the succeeding years, were renewed yesterday after a summer's lapse, for members of the Northside club when they were entertained in the home of Mrs. Allie Cain, 621 West Eighth street.

At the time of the club's formation, Mrs. Cain lived on North M street, and many of the members still have their homes in that section of the city. Yesterday they were invited to have luncheon with their hostess, and all declared that it was a banquet rather than a luncheon. She had arranged one large table to accommodate all her guests, centering it quite charmingly with rosebuds. Fluffy yellow chrysanthemums predominated in the flowers used about the home.

The club custom of having a discussion of current events of interest was followed during the afternoon, and then the conversation continued with lively accounts of summer travels and vacation experiences, as members got out their needlework for a busy sewing session.

Mrs. Cain had one guest, Mrs. Amanda Holmes, in addition to her own sister, Mrs. Ida Kelsey, Mrs. F. M. Robinson, Mrs. C. W. Rairdon, Mrs. Jesse Meacham, Mrs. Alice Meacham, Mrs. R. M. Hall, Mrs. M. F. Herring, Mrs. E. S. O'Brien, Mrs. Frances Akins and Mrs. G. S. McKinney.

Newly-married Couple Attend Reception In Riverside

Mrs. Gerald Weldon Lowell (Judith Lowell) who has been feted at charming affairs since announcement was made of her marriage September 23 in Las Vegas, was welcomed by Mr. Lowell's family group Monday night at an informal party in Riverside.

The bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Lowell, entertained in their home, extending a pleasant courtesy to their son and his bride.

Rooms of the home were a bower of bloom with their many bouquets of roses artistically arranged. One of the loveliest clusters was sent home to the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Rulley of this city, who were unable to be present for the reception.

The new Mrs. Lowell wore a peacock blue crepe frock; Mrs. H. P. Lowell was in lavender silk crepe; Mrs. Frank Asher of Pomona, daughter of the home, was in grey silk. Mrs. Asher and her young sister, Miss Audrey Lowell, assisted their mother in hostess duties throughout the evening.

Card games were played informally. Refreshments were served at the close of the affair.

In the group with Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Lowell were the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Lowell and daughter, Audrey; Mrs. Frank Clifton, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Asher and son, Bobbie; Newell Beach, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Correll and children, Jeanne, Lyle and Norman, Bellflower; Mr. and Mrs. W. Dinner Hosts Assemble Group Of Old Friends

Assembling a group of old friends who get together once a month for informal parties, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Prevost were hosts at a pleasant affair Sunday evening in their home in Tustin.

Chicken dinner was served at a large table centered with yellow and orange chrysanthemums whose vivid hues were softened by the glow of yellow tapers in silver holders. Fruits spilling from a horn of plenty on the buffet furthered the autumnal motif.

Sharing the affair with Mr. and Mrs. Prevost were their son, Joe Prevost Jr. and Miss Ada Marie Holloway; Messrs. and Mesdames George Peters, William Chandler, John Baker, A. D. Shoemaker, C. D. Henderson and Mrs. Pauline Decker.

Beach and Hazel Coleman.

The sorority's next affair will be a pledge service to be conducted sometime this month.

Small Son Christened At Church Service Of Much Beauty

Formal christening rites for Master Robert Blake Gilbert Jr., small son of the Robert Gilberts of 802 South Van Ness avenue, made a pretty and very impressive service conducted Sunday afternoon in Episcopal Church of the Messiah by the rector, the Rev. W. J. Hatter.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert had invited only members of the family circle to be present at this important service at which their small son was invested with his father's name and was granted a godmother, his aunt, Miss Cora Kurrie of this city, and two godfathers, his uncles, Tom Peebles of San Diego and Paul Gilbert of this city. The services were held on the day following that on which the baby was six months old. He was born on Good Friday, April 10, 1936.

Following the beautiful church ritual, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert received the guests in their home where cake, ices and coffee were served. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Peebles of San Diego; Mr. and Mrs. Homer DeWeese and children, Mary Jane, Patricia Ann and Robert Bruce DeWeese, Long Beach; Dr. and Mrs. Dale Brockett and sons, Dale Jr. and Claire, Balboa Island; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Kauffman and son, Bobbie; Newell Beach, Mr. and Mrs. W. Mrs. Tessmann Reviews Margaret Mitchell's Book for Club

Coming as a highlight of Wrycende Maegden club programs for the season was Mrs. John Tessmann's review of "Gone with the Wind" by Margaret Mitchell, given last night at the organization's dinner meeting in the Y. W. rooms.

Mrs. Tessmann gave a brief sketch of the book's author, telling how the usual procedure was reversed when Miss Mitchell submitted her book to the publishers. It was brought out that Miss Mitchell, who had not planned to sell the novel, relinquished it to the publishing house only after repeated offers which proved too interesting to refuse.

Said to be the one and only novel which Miss Mitchell's pen will offer, "Gone with the Wind" was reviewed in comprehensive and fascinating manner by Mrs. Tessmann. The speaker was introduced by Miss Elsie Siemsen, program chairman.

Sister Hostesses Give Charming Party for Miss Rowland

In these busy days leading up to her wedding to Wade Cargile of Tulsa, Okla., Miss Jean Rowland is finding herself complimented at one delightful party after another, the latest having occurred last night when the Misses Alyse and Mary Emil Majors were hostesses in their home, 1811 North Flower street.

Having adopted a color scheme of yellow and white, the sister hostesses applied it most charmingly in the candles that flickered about the home, especially in the dining room at the refreshment hour, in the artistic flower arrangement, and in the score pads and tallies in readiness for contract play.

There were ribbons and tissues for the homonized, the two pretty table lamps awarded as prizes, and secured by Mrs. George and Mrs. Lyle Anderson for their first and second high scores. Party guests maintained the same color scheme in ribbons and wrappings, the shower gifts for Miss Rowland.

These were heaped on a lace-covered table in the dining room, surrounded by a great central cluster of yellow and white flowers, with many candles shedding their serene glow on the scene. When she opened her packages, the bride-elect found almost every need filled in a collection of yellow and white Franciscan pottery.

While the hostesses were being admired, the hostesses were arranging card tables with snowy linens for serving, and a la king with coffee and a dessert course of yellow and white. On each table was a unifying old bride and groom, and within the charm of a wedding ring.

Mrs. R. Majors assisted her daughter in all her duties of the evening, completing with Miss Rowland, her mother and sister, Mrs. Elliott Rowland, and Miss Rowland, a guest group composed of Mesdames Lyle Anderson, George Monroe, John McCarly, George Miles, Norman Paul, Lyle Jensen, Russell Wilson, Edw. Sugden, Ralph Wilson, of Norton, Thomas Jentges, Roy Griss, W. V. Barnett, Herbert Hill, and Eugene of Long Beach, Paul Jales, Gene Anderson, Fayette Birdcher of Anaheim, Don H. H. Ray, Buxton, the Misses G. Turner, Lucy Holmes, G. de la Glover, Fern Berkner, M. Berkner, Jane Hill, Vir. Graves, Bethel Dickinson, M. Helen Crosier, Dolly Cox, all of community, with the Misses Mary Jane Sturgeon and Eloise Wright of Los Angeles.

Three Guests Invited To Play for Absent Club Members

Receiving members of the Tuesday Contract group for luncheon and bridge yesterday in her home, 2005 North Ross street, Mrs. Hugh Lowe expressed hospitality in the many flowers whose arrangement heightened the artistic charm of her home.

Chrysanthemums glowed in the brilliant hues of the season, but loveliest of all were the fall flowers whose grace and color invited to join the group as substitutes for Mrs. Rex Kennedy, Mrs. Harvey Smith and Mrs. John Ball, were Mrs. Leslie Taufenbach of Balboa Island, Mrs. Clarence Jordan and Mrs. Howard Timmons.

They completed the bridge foursomes composed of Mesdames Horace Stevens, Fred Forgy, Richard Emison, Dexter Ball, Lawrence Coffing, Herbert Miller, Baxter Jounet of Los Angeles, J. B. Tucker and the hostess, Mrs. Lowe.

Shown in the Paris openings were short, tailored clothes for evening, of woolen or lame, or a union of the two. They are a perfect answer to the question of what to wear to a restaurant and the cinema. A striking example was Lavin's simple lame jacket with a circular woolen skirt.

If you are on the watch for a striking fall dress, don't overlook the bright-colored wool. It can be pure flattery for one thing—and the perfect background for dark details and smart fur touches. It suits a number of occasions, from foot-ball games to informal bridge parties.

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein
FOREIGN COMPOSER OF AMERICAN CLASSIC

FOR three years, from 1892 to 1895, Antonin Dvorak (pronounced D'Vor-zhahk) traveled through the United States, listening to the songs of the Negroes in the south, and drinking in the spirit of the country.
Then he composed his "New World Symphony," considered one of the world's greatest musical works. Out of this came the famous "Going Home," a selection based upon the "Largo" in his symphony.
Dvorak then was a little more than 50. Born near Prague in 1854, he was encouraged to play the violin at an early age. While he earned a living by playing for dances, he composed short musical selections, and later attempted operas and other difficult pieces.
He became organist in a church at Prague and married. And then began his more intensive work on new operas, and production of his "Slavonic Dances," which brought him considerable praise. He died in 1904 at the age of 63.
Thirty years later, in 1934, Czechoslovakia issued a stamp in Dvorak's honor. It is shown here.

Work On $2,000,000 Fullerton Cannery Is Started

ALL TYPES OF FRUIT JUICES TO BE HANDLED

FULLERTON, Oct. 14.—Sponsored by a group of Los Angeles capitalists, work has started on the installation of equipment here in what, according to reports, will be a $2,000,000 cannery for the purpose of canning orange juice and citrus by-products.

Located on a five-acre tract at Brookhurst road and Commonwealth avenue the plant will have a production capacity of 60,000,000 cans of citrus and vegetable juices this year. Next year, officials of the company say, the plant will handle the major portion of the cull orange and other citrus crops of Southern California.

The concern is known as the Orange County Cannery and is operated by M. Simon with his son, Norton Simon as general manager. At present more than $185,000 worth of new machinery is being installed in the plant.

According to officials of the company the plant will operate on a year around schedule with a permanent payroll including 110 employees. During the peak of the season this list of employees will be increased to 400 workers.

Present plans call for the canning of tomato juice and tomato by-products at the plant in addition to orange and other citrus juices. When orange and tomato juices are not being handled, vegetables, beans and other crops will be canned.

BREA JUNIOR C. OF C. OUTLINES FALL PROGRAM

BREA, Oct. 14.—President Forrest Hurst, Junior Chamber of Commerce, presented Ted Craig as the after dinner speaker at the group meeting this week. Craig reviewed the growth of Brea from a boom town to its present residential status.

Announcement was made of the benefit program and dance which is being given at the gymnasium of the Brea-Orinda Union High school October 23. Receipts will form the nucleus of a fund to be maintained for students injured on the school grounds.

Among the objectives to be immediately considered by the chamber are window displays in vacant stores on the main street; neon signs directing motorists to Brea; raising committee to assist in settling new families in Brea; and the establishment of an industrial plant that will bring a large monthly payroll into the city. All members were urged to be present at the October 31st meeting of the Imperial Highway association, which is being held at the clubhouse here.

The kitchen committee serving the dinner included Mrs. Vivian N. Adams, president of the Legion auxiliary, Mrs. Florence Mathews and Mrs. Cecile Finch. In the dining room were Mrs. Viva Alexander of Santa Ana, Mrs. Mildred Shoff and Mrs. Gene Hurst.

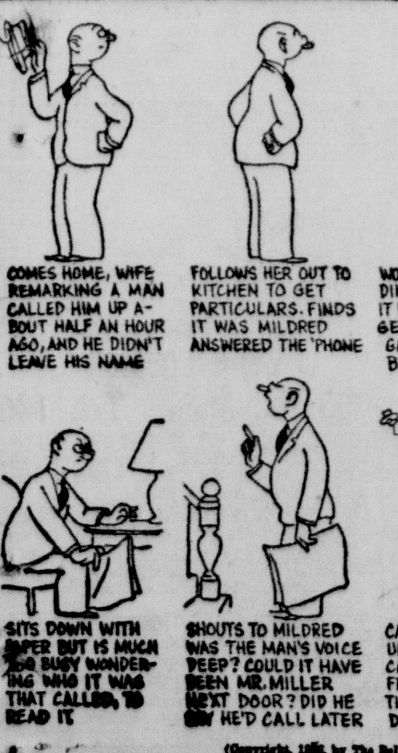

The next dinner meeting will be held on November 9. An officers' breakfast is held each Wednesday morning at Granny's cafe.

ZONING PLANS FOR YORBA LINDA ARE DISCUSSED AT MEET

YORBA LINDA, Oct. 14.—Petitions will be circulated soon in Yorba Linda asking for a hearing before the planning commission of Orange county for zoning the Imperial highway which is to pass through the tract.

The chamber of commerce this week launched a program whereby the highway may be protected from unsightly buildings through the tract. This action followed a talk by Jules Markel at a recent session of chamber members. He outlined work of the Orange county planning commission of which he is a member.

All this concerns the plans to start immediately on the Imperial highway construction through the Yorba Linda tract, the highway that is designed as a straight east-west road from Imperial valley to the ocean.

Another matter concerning the highway construction considered was moving the fire house out of the path of the improvement. It likely will be located on the school property at Lemon and School street. H. A. Casparie discussed that topic.

The next meeting of the chamber of commerce will be October 29, a dinner meeting at the Masonic temple.

RESTRICTIONS PLANNED FOR LAGUNA HOMES

Presentation of the proposed ordinance prepared by City Engineer Arthur J. Stead and Manuel DeAnna, member of the city planning commission, is seen as the first result of city planning. Spans of the measure hold that, if adopted, it will make the city safer from a standpoint of fire hazards, healthier and more beautiful.

Provisions of the ordinance, briefly, prohibits building on any lot in the residence district that is less than 1800 square feet in area, requires side yards of more than four feet in width and calls for a special permit for any dwelling covering more than 50 per cent of the lot or parcel of land on which it is to be located. HELP FINISH THE COMMUNITY
CHEST

The tireless workers in the Community Chest Drive have given a lot of time, energy and patience in an effort to raise the necessary amount for the Chest.

This can be done only by every citizen who is able, doing his share in the movement.

RUSSIA'S INCONSISTENCY

A news item comes out of Moscow that they have shipped the fourth ship of supplies to Spain for the Loyalists. Russia protests against the Rebels receiving help but they are perfectly willing to send help to the Reds.

It would seem with the short crops that are reported in Russia, real charity begins at home and that Russia should take care of the suffering in her own country rather than starve their own people to ship substance to those in Spain who insist on the right that they should have control and dispense the wealth of Spain.

WHY SPAIN'S REVOLT

In an article by an ex-Spanish official, he explains some of the things that happened in Spain shortly before the civil war, now going on there. He gives statistics purported to be from the Spanish Parliament record. He says that the five months prior to the 15th of July this year, we must credit those in control of the government who do not believe in private property with the total or partial burning of 420 churches, 43 newspapers, raids on 393 political centers, 330 persons murdered, 1511 wounded, 215 frustrated assaults, 178 holdups, 113 general strikes, 357 partial strikes, 300 explosions of bombs and 78 attempts of bombing which failed.

It is little wonder that there was civil war in Spain when the government so failed to protect life and the rights in property, as to result in the above figures.

MILK-KEEPING

The announcement that the Bureau of Dairy Industry has discovered a process of keeping milk fresh for long periods is an accomplishment of interest to everyone.

Milk is being used more and more as a healthful food. Every authority on dietetics is convinced that there is not nearly enough milk used to add to the health of people. The process that will enable milk to be transported long distances, kept in good condition, enabling it to be produced in flush periods and used in periods when it is more expensive to produce milk, should help to reduce the cost so that it will be more easily secured and consequently more generally used.

These are the kinds of adventures and discoveries that really improve the living conditions of all people and raise the real wages of all workers.

NO PRIVATE EMPLOYMENT

Every citizen would lose his job, provided the tax for producing wealth were large enough. If there should be a law that would take 100 per cent of all production, then there would be no private employment.

It, therefore, seems logical that if complete taxation on production would kill all private employment that a partial tax on production would kill part of the private employment.

It is hard to understand why both political parties, who claim they are trying to restore employment, put in their platforms that taxes should be paid in proportion to ability to pay, which includes a tax on all production.

With the longest depression the United States has ever had and with, according to American Federation of Labor, 10,777,000 still unemployed, it would seem time that we should stop doing things we know help bring about unemployment.

Of course, taxing production, instead of taxing consumption, temporarily improves the living conditions of the people but it kills and greatly reduces production and, as a necessary sequence, decreases consumption, over a period of years, much more than a graduated tax on consumption.

VERY HELPFUL

To our mind, the classes on how to secure a job, held in the Y. M. C. A. at 7 o'clock each Thursday night, are very helpful.

These classes are under the direction of Gustav White, in cooperation with Adult Education. It is, to our mind, one of the most worthwhile movements that have been made by the Board of Education and the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. in adult education.

The only discouraging part in the matter is that when it is really an analysis of self, without any idea of getting something for nothing, the attendance is not what it should be. It seems to be the experience that when the classes promise to give something without any effort on the part of the listener, there is a good attendance, but when there is real merit to the program, it is very difficult to get people interested.

It would seem to us that every employer and laborer, as well as everyone seeking a job, would be greatly benefited by attending these classes. The employer would have a better understanding as to how to select the proper help and the employee would gain a better knowledge of what is expected from an employee.

One whom I knew intimately, and whose memory I revere, once in my hearing remarked that, "unless we love people, we cannot understand them." This was a new light to me.

—Christina G. Rossetti.

"I KNOW I AM BETTER OFF"

The statement that one most commonly hears, in consideration of voting for presidency, is that "I am better off now than I was under the last part of Hoover's administration". For this reason, many people believe that they should vote for Roosevelt. No thinking person contends that there are not more opportunities for jobs now than there were three years ago. As to why there are more jobs now is something that is very difficult to make a man, who does not know the effects of credit, understand.

It is easy to improve conditions temporarily, if one does not consider the after-effects of the temporary improvement. Times certainly should be better when more than 9,000,000 people have been directly assisted by the Federal Government. This should make improved living conditions for all those who have been assisted. And this temporarily stimulated buying power of the 9,000,000 people has, undoubtedly, greatly increased the opportunities for workers to furnish them goods and material at better wages and more profit than had this stimulant not been administered.

To illustrate how it affects the living standard of people, let us assume that a farmer, with a large family, had been very desirous of building an irrigating system for his farm and had been bending his efforts, abstaining from consuming energy on present living conditions and had put all the surplus energy the whole family had in building the irrigating system. It is true that when they are doing this, their standard of living would be much lower than it would be if they enjoyed and consumed what they produced without anticipating greatly increasing their production later for their benefit. Then suppose that, instead of taking the energy of the family to build the irrigating system, he would sell to someone else all the rights and work that they had already performed on the project. Certainly, this family would be much more prosperous and have a much higher standard of living while this savings were being consumed and while they were making no effort whatever to improve their living conditions in the future.

This exactly pictures why we have more jobs now than we had three years ago. The government is giving assistance to some 9,000,000 people, who are giving mighty little in return. They are eating up the "seed corn" of past savings. This is being accomplished by greater tax on production, greater tax on undistributed profits and by borrowing billions of dollars worth of wealth from life insurance holders and holders of bonds, notes and credits of all kinds. This capital is being eaten up. These people are being deprived of their savings. It is fine while it lasts but every thinking person, who is educated enough to be able to see what will happen before it does happen, shudders at the very thought of our future.

This is exactly what Spain did; what France is doing; and when the supply is exhausted and those who have been in the habit of being fed and clothed at the expense of others, find that they can no longer accomplish this by the peaceful method of voting and are willing, by force, by robbery and by murder, to perpetuate their right to work at wages to which they think they are entitled and at the kind of work to which they think they are entitled, then is when they will look back to our present time and think how foolish we were not to stop the habit of consuming our seed corn while we still have strength and independence.

WHAT IS NEWS?

This old question somewhat "stumped" news-gathering organizations when the New York Times announced that it would support Roosevelt.

Some students of news were of the opinion that this was not a news item because the Times had, for 25 years, always supported the Democratic administration. Other students of what is news contended, as so many Democratic papers had changed from the Democrat support to the Republican support and because the New York Times had so severely criticized Roosevelt's financial policies and had delayed any announcement of endorsement until such a late date in the campaign and the fact they did not switch over, that the announcement became a matter of news.

These are some of the things on which newspapers and news-gathering organizations are constantly obliged to pass opinion. If they decide one way, they are accused of being prejudiced by some and if they decide another way, they are accused of being prejudiced by others. It is a dilemma the publishers are always up against.

BONEHEAD FARM POLICIES

Roosevelt, in his Omaha speech, called the Republican farm policy a bonehead policy. We think he is absolutely right.

It seems to us that about all the candidates on both parties can do is to point out the weaknesses in the other party's platform and policies. Both parties' platforms are so full of bullet holes that neither party can really defend their own program. It is much easier to point out the inconsistencies and the absurdities in the other party's principles.

When we get away from fundamental laws of economics and morals and start to make man-made arbitrary regulations, it is impossible to be consistent and every bad law requires ten additional bad laws to try to correct it. If either party would set down sound principles and stand on them, whether or not their candidate were elected, sooner or later, we might get some place.

Some of These October Evenings Get Pretty Chilly

Day By Day In Washington

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1936)

ENROUTE TO INDIANA, Oct. 14—I have now covered 30 states out of the 49 planned. The eight eliminated are in the admittedly Democratic solid south. Of the 10 yet to be visited, three are border states close to the south and likely to go Democratic, too. So the trend in seven states is Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and Delaware—will, when surveyed on my trip in the next ten days, influence the final forecast which I expect to write for October 21—the Saturday before election.

I have said that the election looked fifty-fifty to me. I based it on the way the voters were dividing in the states already visited, but the seven states yet to be surveyed comprise 164 votes in the electoral college, and, despite what one may find in the west, the outcome in those seven states east of the Mississippi is everything to the electoral result.

Thus, assuming that Governor Landon carries certain close states west of the Mississippi, I have worked out one set of electoral tables which show that he could lose Illinois, or Indiana, or Michigan, or Ohio, respectively, and be elected. On another calculation, he could lose certain western states that are at present doubtful but leaning in his direction and yet be elected. Whatever the combination is used mathematically and with knowledge of political trends, the large electoral vote states play a decisive part. That's why I leave them always for study in the last three weeks of October.

I might add here that, outside of the border states, I have not been in a single state which the local Republican leaders would privately concede as lost, even though, in many instances, an uphill fight was frankly admitted. Anybody who thinks the election is "in the bag" need only observe that, since the nominating conventions last June and notwithstanding nationwide radio hook-ups, President Roosevelt has travelled more miles than his opponent. Likewise, the states visited are for the most part in the doubtful or close category and might go either way by a small margin of votes.

Now there are three ways that this election may turn out—not just two, I am speaking now as to effect on business and future trends in American politics.

First, Mr. Roosevelt might win by a large electoral vote but a small margin of popular votes. This would accentuate the protest idea and influence Democratic congressmen to be independent of White House control.

Second, Mr. Landon might win by a close margin of popular votes and yet a comfortable majority of electoral votes. Third, Mr. Roosevelt or Mr. Landon might win by a big margin of popular votes.

I am prepared even at this stage of the campaign to discount the third possibility as highly improbable. This is a close election with respect to popular votes, and I would not be surprised if, out of the 45,000,000 votes expected to be cast, the margin of the winner is not in excess of 3,000,000.

Everywhere I have gone in the west, and I see signs of it in the east, too, the popular vote majorities which Mr. Roosevelt had four years ago are going to be reduced from 30 to 50 per cent. This means a lineup of Republican and Democrats more like normal years, but with such increased registration as to make the total figures much larger, even though the margins reckoned in percentages will be narrower than usual.

In some states, we will witness the phenomenon of Mr. Landon getting a minority of the votes and yet capturing the electoral vote because the Lemke vote will subtract just enough from the Roosevelt column to give Landon a plurality.

Not the least important is the size of the protest vote against the Roosevelt administration even if the president is reelected. It will probably bring in its wake increased Republican membership in congress, many Republican governors and state officers.

In this connection, I was much interested the other day in a letter received from a lady in Arizona. It was as follows:

"I hesitated a long while before writing you. My husband didn't think I should, which rather convinced me I ought to. Anyway, here is my way of looking at the forthcoming election."

"I listen to the radio and hear all the speeches. When the Democratic speakers get through, I think they are right. When the Republican speakers get through, I think they are night."

"Now, four years ago I voted for Mr. Hoover. I think he got a pretty raw deal. This year I have decided to vote for Mr. Roosevelt. But I believe just enough of what I have heard on the radio about the issues so that I am going to vote for all other Republicans so that they can watch him."

This lady has just the opposite idea from those who are urging that Governor Landon couldn't do anything if elected because, while he might have a Republican house, senate, the fact is that, under our system of government, it was intended for the congress to act as a check on the executive. Senator Carter Glass, Democrat, blames congress for giving Mr. Roosevelt such extensive powers and so much money to spend. I believe that, if the election result is close as to popular votes, Mr. Roosevelt will not control the Democratic senate but that we shall see a substantial insurgency on the Democratic side. Senators study election returns minutely, and, if they see the Roosevelt tide receding, they will get on the bandwagon for 1938 by dis-covering what are the reasons for the 1936 protest vote.

Likewise, American business will feel less disturbed if the election reveals a sizeable protest vote than if it goes overwhelmingly in favor of Roosevelt on a popular vote. For the popular vote and not the electoral vote will indicate what kind of congress we are going to get in 1938 and whether various New Deal experiments, considered unsound from an economic viewpoint by business leaders, are really on the way out.

Little Benny's
Note Book

BY LEE PAPE

Me and pop was taking a walk before supper and Mr. Merkle stopped going passed to shake hands with pop. Mr. Merkle being a man with little eyes and a big chin, saying, I'm pushing off for Europe next week, have you heard?

No, I haven't been reading the papers lately, pop said, and Mr. Merkle said, People have been telling me it's dangerous to travel abroad, but that's all a lot of baloney and nobody can tell me different. All an intelligent person needs is a smattering of 3 or 4 languages so he can ask a few simple questions in whatever country he happens to be, and he don't need to be afraid of other peoples' wars or revolutions. And that's just how I've been preparing myself. I've got a little book in my pocket right now that translates simple questions and answers in French, German, Spanish and Italian all in the same volume. For instance, Where is such and such a street, please, I would like a nice outside room with running water, what is the price of this, and so 4th, he said.

When was the book printed? pop said, and Mr. Merkle said, It's the very latest, the man in the bookstore told me it came out last year. Just as I thought, it's hopelessly old fashioned, pop said. Nowadays you can travel intelligently without being able to say in several languages such things as, Please don't search my baggage again, it's been searched every 20 minutes for the passed 2 weeks. No thank you, I don't wish to spend the night in a concentration camp, I would rather go back to my hotel, kindly point your revolver away from my chest, officer, firearms make me nervous, don't order your men to shoot me at sunrise, I prefer to be shot after lunch, and so 4th, pop said, and Mr. Merkle said, Excuse me if I don't see the joke.

And he kept on going mad and me and pop kept on seeing the joke for about 2 blocks.

In the Long Ago

From The Register Files
25 Years Ago Today

OCTOBER 14, 1911

Associate Justice John Marshall Harlan, of the Supreme Federal Court, died this morning at his home in Washington, D. C., as the result of an acute attack of bronchitis with which he was stricken less than a week ago. He was dean of the Supreme Court, his term of 34 years on the Supreme bench being the longest, with but one exception, in the history of the United States. His death will make it necessary for President Taft to make his fifth appointment to the Supreme Court, and will make a majority on that tribunal, of President Taft's selection.

Two years ago, Santa Ana had not a single building which could be designated as an apartment house. Now there are several which may have that designation, and there is a prospect of four handsome new buildings going up at an early date despite the fears entertained that such buildings would be barred by the Bennett tenement house law.

OUR CHILDREN

BY ANGELO PATRI

TAKING ORDERS

"What is the trouble, Douglas? Why aren't you on line?" "I don't feel like it."

"Don't be silly. Get on line." "I'm not going to take orders from you," said Douglas to the first grade teacher. The class gasped, shocked and awed by such mutiny. Miss Audrey smiled at the rebel.

"No? All right. Off we go without you. Mark time, march. Forward march," and off went the class like a company of soldiers.

Douglas looked at the empty room, felt the silence falling, bearing down upon him, his miserable spirit, and decided that he was hungry and darted out of the door, and raced home to his mother as fast as his legs could carry him. As he entered the door the telephone rang and Miss Audrey asked, "Did Douglas reach home safely?"

"Yes, he has just come. Why?" "He refused to march out with his line and when I got back to the room he had gone. I wanted to know he had reached home. Thank you." And Miss Audrey hung up.

"What did you do, Douglas? Run away from your teacher?" "I just told her I wouldn't take any orders from her."

"My goodness! What made you say such a thing as that?" "All the time she just says, 'Stand,' 'Sit,' 'March.' Whatever she likes. 'Take readers,' 'Close books.' She never says, 'Would you like to stand?' 'Would you like to read a story?' Just says, 'Read.' So I just told her. Why doesn't she explain like, 'Now children, it is time to go home for lunch so you can get something to eat?' 'Would you like to get your hats?' The way you do to me. I just told her I wouldn't take any more orders from her."

"Then I'm afraid you will have to stay home. In school where there are fifty children to do the same thing at one time there must be orders. If you were the only little boy, as you are at home, the teacher would explain the reasons for doing things. But in school you belong to the class, you see. You move with the crowd. That's why you get orders."

"Well, I don't like it. But I like going to school." "It took a lot of 'explaining' to set Douglas right about this. He had been trained to listen to reason. He had not been trained to cooperate with a group of children. He expected to have a speech made every time the teacher called for a change in program. While the teacher appreciated the situation she had to ignore his wishes and go ahead. He must 'fall in' or 'fall out.'"

Although it is wise and right to explain unusual requests it is not possible to explain many of the essential demands made upon children of nearly school age. Words do not explain them. Only time and experience, which gave them their place in the scheme of things, can enlighten the children. There are many times when it is best to say "Forward, march," and start on the instant. Keep explanations for the unusual breaks in routine.

Mr. Patri has prepared a leaflet entitled, "Self-Measuring Chart," which teaches a child how to examine himself and check up on his behavior. Send for it, addressing your request to Mr. Angelo Patri, Child Psychology Department of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope.

Dear Editor:

You have indeed stated well, in thy parable of the farmer and the Maker of Plows, that which did come about.

For the farmer was indeed sore oppressed, and the Maker of Plows, and his accomplice, the Banker, did take heavy toll, till the Farmer moaned his woes to all who would hear.

But the Maker and the Banker heeded little, though they gave much of wordy sympathy. They did not make plows, but only owned them, whilst others, sooty handed ones, iron mongers by craft, tolled to make the plows which the Farmer used.

Little were these sooty handed ones paid and they, too, moaned their lot, whispering among themselves. They were not well rewarded, and they were driven to rebellion.

Then the Economists, they of great brains, said, Lo, it is not possible that all can prosper. There can be no true prosperity if these sooty ones be well paid but only they who own the plows and their accomplices, the bankers, must prosper.

Wroth were the sooty ones and they whispered more, but little more in money did they get. Like the farmers, they were sore distressed.

Now the farmers found that they could no longer buy plows, and moreover could not even keep their farms, for the Bankers now took the farms from them.

Then came a day when the Banker had many farms, though he knew not the bushel of wheat nor yet the plow.

More and more he took farms, leaving the Farmers homeless, until one day he found that he had too many farms, and that he could not have Bank that had too many farms.

And finally he was neither Banker nor Farmer. And likewise the Maker of Plows found that farmers did not buy plows, so that he could not sell plows, for there were none to buy them.

So the farmers had no farms, and the banker had no bank and the sooty ones had no jobs and the economists had no brains, or not much.

Then did they lift up their voices in pleading to the Great Father Who is in Washington, saying, Save us, O Great Father.

Right gladly did the Great Father in Washington respond, saying unto them, To the Banker I give RFC and likewise to the Maker of Plows; and to the Farmer I give AAA and to the sooty ones PWA.

Then were they saved and again waxed prosperous the Banker and the Maker of Plows.

And were their prayers of gratitude.

Nay, not so, for gratitude was not in them, only envy and hatred and fear, and they cried, He hath given us debts and we'll get the Great Father who is in Washington this election, him whom say is Communist but others that he be Socialist though it was well known that he was Democrat, even as his father before him and his father's father, as is the way of Democrats.

Rightly did they cry and indignantly, and plentifully did they pile pelf into the hat of one Hamilton, who hath a hat like unto a sunflower.

But the Great Father's work had given many wherewith to eat and the where to lay their heads, even as it had given great wealth to some. The sooty ones were glad, even as the Banker and the Maker of Plows, though in considerably less measure.

And now, O Editor, was it the greed of the sooty ones, or was it the greed of the Makers of Plows and the Bankers that that horrid thing came upon them, and made great bankers to moan piteously and all to cry with grief? Ernest S. Wooster.

CIVIL SERVICE THAT WOULD DEFEAT ITSELF

From San Bernardino Sun

Friends of constructive civil service are speaking up in opposition to Proposition No. 7, titled "county and municipal civil service" on the November ballot.

It is well that the friends of an honest civil service system are out combating this measure. It was initiated by a group of public employees who seek to build a powerful lobby that could sandbag every session of the legislature. It is designed to give 65,000 or 70,000 public employees permanent life-jobs and special privileges. Funds to get the signatures and to conduct the campaign in behalf of the measure were sought from public employees throughout the state on the basis that they would get something out of it.

The measure is loosely drawn, so much so that a conference of civil service groups some weeks ago at Santa Barbara unanimously condemned it.

How would you like to discover after election you could no longer vote for any county official except judges, district attorney, superintendent of schools, supervisors, assessor?

Or how would you like to discover after election you couldn't vote for any city official except mayor, councilmen and police judge?

Each county and city in the state have power to create civil service of such extent as the people of those communities may desire. We see no reason to have a sweeping state law that would give a life-time job to almost every employe and official in the local public service, and set up a system that would be dictated by laws passed at Sacramento. Local communities are competent to handle their own affairs.

We are glad that leaders in civil service are taking it upon themselves to oppose the measure. When the public digests what kind of a package is wrapped up for them in the measure under discussion there is danger their resentment might extend to the present civil service organizations, and that would be unwise.

As far as we can determine no local city or county official had any part in the drafting of this measure or in any scheme to give themselves life-time jobs under the guise of extension of a merit system.

The merit system has accomplished much good in the public service, let's not ruin it with an unwise measure. We shall vote "no" on No. 7.
